

Biography:

Dr. Rashid Hamed Al-Balushi, is the assistant dean of college of Law for academic studies, Sultan Qaboos University.

He got his Phd in Criminal Law (Crime Science & Criminal Justice) from the University of Hull, UK (2004).

He serves in many positions as he is a member of many Committees at the National Level such as the national committee for Human Rights as the head of the legal subcommittee, and a member of the committee concerned with accepting lawyers in the ministry of justice, as well as many other committees at the University Level and Committees at the College Level.

He is also practicing in his law firm (Dr Rashid, Mohammed El Murtada & co. Partners for Legal Consultancies)

He teaches many subjects in the college of law for under graduate and post graduate students.

He wrote and published many researches and papers related to legal affairs and human rights in local and international journals and magazines by Arabic and English language.

He participated in many local and international conferences related to criminal law, international law, and human rights.

He also organized many local conferences as he was the head of the committee concerned with the preparation for the conference about the information of legal sides which was held in the college of law in Sultan Qaboos University in 13-14/3/2011.

Dr Rashid has also been in charge of setting the proposal concerning establishing the legal clinic in the college of law, Sultan Qaboos University.