INTRODUCTION

This Questionnaire is addressed to Members of the Hague Conference and other interested States in fulfilment of the mandate provided by the Council on General Affairs and Policy of the Conference ("the Council") in April 2012, following consideration of Preliminary Document No 10 of March 2012.<sup>1</sup> The Council requested that the Permanent Bureau "continue the current work under the 2011 Council mandate and further prepare and distribute a Questionnaire in order to obtain more detailed information regarding the extent and nature of the private international law issues being encountered in relation to international surrogacy arrangements, as well as in relation to legal parentage or "filiation" more broadly. The Questionnaire shall seek views on the needs to be addressed and approaches to be taken. The Permanent Bureau is invited to present its final Report to the Council in 2014".<sup>2</sup>

A detailed chronology of the background to this project is available on the website of the Hague Conference < www.hcch.net >, under "The Parentage / Surrogacy Project", then "Chronology of the Project (including relevant documentation)".

This Questionnaire has five parts:

- Part I contains questions on the internal law concerning the establishment and contestation of legal parentage in Member and interested States;
- Part II looks to the private international law ("PIL") and co-operation rules concerning birth registration and the establishment, recognition and contestation of legal parentage;
- Part III addresses the particular challenges concerning International Surrogacy Arrangements<sup>3</sup> ("ISAs");
- Part IV considers the current bilateral or multilateral instruments in the field; and
- Part V asks for thoughts on possible future work in this area.

Please note that the Permanent Bureau has used the same terminology in this Questionnaire as that which was used in the Glossary annexed to Preliminary Document No 10 of March 2012. This Glossary is accessible on the webpage of the project, "The Parentage / Surrogacy Project", then "Chronology of the Project (including relevant documentation)" and then "2011 - 2013".

The Permanent Bureau invites responses to the Questionnaire (in either English or French) by no later than 1 August 2013 in order to allow the Permanent Bureau sufficient time to consider the responses and to prepare the final Report requested by Members for the Council of 2014. Answers should be sent by e-mail to < secretariat@hcch.net > with the following heading and indication in the subject field: "Questionnaire - Parentage / Surrogacy - [name of Member, State or territorial unit, where applicable]".

It is acknowledged that this is a detailed Questionnaire and that, due to the legal position in some States, it may not be possible for Members and interested States to respond to all of the questions. The Permanent Bureau is extremely grateful for any information which may be provided. It is also hoped that the detailed information in the responses to this Questionnaire may be of use to Members beyond this project: for example, where consideration is being given, now or in the future, to domestic legislation in any of the areas considered below.

QUESTIONNAIRE

Note: wherever possible, please provide a copy of, or a web-link to, any legislation, rules or case law mentioned in your response, along with a translation into English or French.

Part I: Internal law concerning the establishment and contestation of legal parentage

A. Birth registration

1. Please indicate which authorities in your State are responsible for registering the birth of a child:

The Vital Statistics Agency, set up under the Vital Statistics Act, C.C.S.M. c. V60 - <http://web2.gov.mb.ca/laws/statutes/ccsm/v060e.php>

2. Please briefly describe the procedure for birth registration in your State, indicating whether such registration is mandatory<sup>4</sup> and providing details concerning any specific rules which must be complied with (e.g., within what timeframe must a birth be registered, who can register a birth and where must the birth be registered):

Birth registration is mandatory for every child born in the province.

A Registration of Birth form (set out in the Regulations) must be completed either before release from a health facility or, in the case of a home birth, within a period of 5 days after the birth.

The birth can be registered by -

- (a) the mother or father of the child;
- (b) any employee of the health facility where the child was born;
- (c) if there is no person to whom (a) or (b) applies, the person standing in the place of the parents, or
- (d) if there is no person to whom (a), (b) or (c) applies, the occupier of the premises where the child was born, if they have knowledge of the birth.

The completed form is to be delivered to Vital Statistics officials.

Sections 3(1) and (2) of the Vital Statistics Act

3. Please explain what proof (evidence), if any, of legal maternity is required by the authorities in your State in order to register a putative<sup>5</sup> legal mother:

Please tick all which apply:

- a)  Hospital birth record (stating the name of the woman who gave birth to the child)
- b)  Sworn statement by the putative legal mother stating that she gave birth to the child
- c)  Signed statement by the putative legal mother stating that she gave birth to the child

<sup>4</sup> See Art. 7 of the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child ("UNCRC"), 20 November 1989, which states that, "The child shall be registered immediately after birth and shall have the right from birth to a name, the right to acquire a nationality and, as far as possible, the right to know and be cared for by his or her parents."

<sup>5</sup> "Putative" means "generally considered or reputed to be" and, in this document, is taken to mean the woman or man claiming or claimed (where it is not the individual him or herself making the assertion) to be the legal mother or father, respectively, of the child.

- d)  DNA test to prove a genetic link between the putative legal mother and child
 e)  Other: please explain

Paragraph a) above, or any one of paragraphs b) through d), except in the case where there is evidence that another woman gave birth to the child, in which case a court order would be required to declare the legal mother of the child. A court order can also be obtained even where there is no dispute between the parties.

The court order would be issued under s. 19 of the Family Maintenance Act, C.C.S.M. c. F20 - <http://web2.gov.mb.ca/laws/statutes/ccsm/f020e.php>

4. Please explain what proof (evidence), if any, of legal paternity is required by the authorities in your State in order to register a putative legal father:

Please tick all which apply:

- a)  Formal acknowledgement<sup>6</sup> by the putative legal father
 b)  Formal acknowledgement by the putative legal father, with the legal mother and / or the child's evidenced consent: please specify
 c)  Judicial decision (court order) establishing or confirming legal paternity
 d)  Sworn statement by the putative legal father stating that he is the genetic father
 e)  Signed statement by the putative legal father stating that he is the genetic father
 f)  Signed agreement between the legal mother and putative legal father
 g)  DNA test to prove a genetic link between the putative legal father and child
 h)  Other: please explain

Where the child is born to a married woman, registration would show her husband as the child's father, subject to specific exceptions in the legislation (e.g. she may file a statement that her husband is not the father of the child, she may be separated from her husband and cohabiting with a subsequent common-law partner at the time of birth, etc.).

Where the parents are not married, the mother and the person acknowledged by her as the father (whether they cohabiting in a common-law relationship or not) must make a joint written request for that person to be registered as the father. Unless a joint request is made, the birth shall be registered without any particulars as to the father.

In both cases, paternity could be established by court order, ordinarily with DNA evidence of a genetic link.

Where the child is born as a result of artificial insemination, with the written consent of the mother and her spouse or common-law partner, registration would show her spouse or common-law partner as the father or other parent.

Sections 3(5) to 3(9) of the Vital Statistics Act; the court order would be issued under s. 20 of the Family Maintenance Act.

5. What are the legal consequences in the internal law of your State of registering persons in the State records<sup>7</sup> as the parents of a child?

<sup>6</sup> In some States, this is called a "recognition" of paternity: the term "acknowledgement" is used in this document to avoid confusion with the private international law concept of "recognition". See further Questions 11 et seq. below.

<sup>7</sup> It is acknowledged that there are different methods of recording births (and therefore legal parentage) across States, as well as different rules concerning matters such as when birth certificates will be issued, what information should be contained within the certificate and their constitutive value. Where applicable, please provide information concerning the rules in your State.

- a)  Those persons are the legal parents of the child for all purposes, unless and until the record is contested, and all the legal consequences which flow from legal parentage in your State will automatically follow (e.g., duty to provide maintenance, inheritance rules, naming rules, etc.):
- b)  Other: please explain
6. Are there any penalties for failing to comply with the rules concerning birth registration in your State: for example, misrepresenting to the authorities who are / is the legal parent(s) of the child?

Failure to furnish any statement required under the governing legislation is a summary conviction offence and on conviction, a person is liable to a fine not exceeding $10,000.

A person who wilfully makes a false or misleading statement is guilty of a summary conviction offence and is liable to a fine not exceeding $50,000. or imprisonment for not more than one year or both. Wilful use of false documents is also a summary conviction offence and carries the same penalties.

Sections 44, 45 and 45.2 of the Vital Statistics Act

Penalties are also provided in the Criminal Code of Canada (sections 377 and 378): imprisonment for a term not exceeding five years for forging declarations, copies of acts, certificates and extracts. Criminal Code Web page: <http://lois-laws.justice.gc.ca/eng/lois/C-46/FullText.html>

7. Is it possible to give birth anonymously in your State?

- Yes
 No

If so, please explain any rules which apply to such an anonymous birth and state what will appear on the child's birth record and / or birth certificate:<sup>8</sup>

Legislation requires the person who attends the birth to give notice of the birth to Vital Statistics authorities. Every birth that takes place in the province is required by legislation to be registered, and provides for penalties if the birth is not registered within a specific timeframe (see answers to questions 2 and 6 above).

However, where a child is found abandoned (foundling), the governing legislation provides for Vital Statistics authorities to find out as much information as possible about the details of the child's birth and register the birth, establishing a date of birth, a place of birth and a surname and given name for the child. If the identity of the child is subsequently established to the satisfaction of the Vital Statistics authorities, they must add to or correct the birth registration or cancel it and replace it with a new birth registration.

Sections 5 and 7 of the Vital Statistics Act

B. Establishment of legal parentage

8. Who, upon the birth of a child, is the legal mother by operation of law in your State (i.e., with no need for the woman to take any steps to establish her legal maternity)?

<sup>8</sup> In this document, the "birth record" is taken to mean the information concerning the child's birth (including legal parentage) which is stored in the records of the relevant State authority (usually a registry). In contrast, the "birth certificate" is taken to mean the extract from this birth record which is usually given to the legal parent(s) to keep. In some States it may be that the information contained within the birth record is comprehensive (e.g., if the child has been adopted, the birth record will identify the birth parent(s)), whereas the birth certificate may provide only a limited part of this information. See also ibid.

- a)  The woman who gives birth to the child
 b)  The genetic mother (i.e., the woman whose gamete (egg) created the child)
 c)  There is no legal mother by operation of law: please explain
 d)  Other: please explain
9. Who, upon the birth of a child, is the legal father by operation of law in your State (i.e., with no need for the man to take any steps to establish his legal paternity)?
- a)  The husband of the woman who gave birth is presumed to be the legal father
 b)  The male partner of the woman who gave birth is presumed to be the legal father – please provide any conditions (e.g., the couple must be cohabiting, etc.)

See response to question 4 above.

- c)  The genetic father (i.e., the man whose gamete (sperm) created the child)
 d)  There is no legal father by operation of law: please explain
 e)  Other: please explain

Other situations are specified in legislation -

- (a) A man who was married to the mother by a marriage that was terminated by death, judgment of nullity or divorce that occurred within 300 days, or such longer period as the court may allow, before the birth of the child;
 (b) A man who married the mother after the child's birth and acknowledged that he is the father;
 (c) A man who, together with the mother, has acknowledged in writing that he is the father of the child.

Section 23 of the Family Maintenance Act

If legal presumptions operate in your State, please specify in what circumstances, if any, it is possible to "rebut" these presumptions:

It is possible to rebut a presumption of paternity where the contrary is proved on the balance of probabilities before a court. In a court application for a declaration of parentage or non-parentage, the court may give a party leave to obtain blood tests or other genetic tests of persons named by the court and to submit the results in evidence. Where a person so named refuses to submit to the test, the court may draw any inference it considers appropriate.

Sections 21(1) and 21(3) of the Family Maintenance Act

10. a) Is it possible in your State for a non-contentious (i.e., unchallenged) application to be made to the relevant State authorities for a decision (sometimes called a "declaration") establishing or confirming the legal parentage of a child?

- Yes – go to Question 10 b).
 No – go to Question 11.

b) Please explain to which State authorities such an application should be made:

- i.  The authority responsible for birth registration (see Question 1 above)
 ii.  The judicial authorities (i.e., the courts): please specify Manitoba Court of Queen's Bench or Manitoba Provincial Court; sections 19 and 20 of the Family Maintenance Act
 iii.  Other State administrative authorities: please specify
 iv.  Other: please explain

c) Please explain who may bring such an application:

- i.  Only the individuals currently considered to be the legal mother and / or father and / or the child
- ii.  Any person claiming to be the legal mother and / or father of a child
- iii.  Any person determined by the State authorities to have sufficient interest to bring a claim: please explain how the authorities determine this question:
- iv.  Any person
- v.  Other: please explain

The court would determine whether the applicant has a sufficient interest as a question of fact on the evidence adduced (sections 19 and 20 of the Family Maintenance Act).

d) Is there a timeframe within which such an application must be made?

- Yes, please specify:
- No
- In certain situations: please explain

(a) A declaration of parentage (maternity or paternity) can only be made where the person and the child whose relationship is sought to be established are both living, except where the circumstances give rise to a presumption of paternity, in which case a declaratory order of paternity may be made where only the father or the child is living.

(b) No declaratory order may be made where the child has been placed for adoption, and the Director of Child and Family Services files a certificate that notice of the application for the declaratory order was made more than 21 days after a parent gave consent to the adoption or signed a voluntary surrender of guardianship respecting the child.

Sections 20(6), (7), and (8) of the Family Maintenance Act

11. Is it possible in your State for a putative legal father to "voluntarily acknowledge"<sup>9</sup> his legal paternity (if his legal paternity has not arisen by operation of law – see Question 9 above)?

- Yes
- No

If so, please explain (1) if there are any restrictions placed upon who may undertake such an acknowledgement (e.g., it must be the genetic father, the man must be over a certain age, etc.), (2) the procedure for undertaking such an acknowledgement, and (3) whether the consent(s) of the mother and / or child are required:

Where the mother and the putative legal father together acknowledge in writing that he is the father of the child, a presumption of paternity arises (see answer to question 9(e) above).

A putative legal father could also voluntarily acknowledge his legal paternity by consenting to a declaratory order being made.

In particular, please state whether it is possible for an individual to acknowledge legal paternity to representatives of your State authorities in another country (e.g., usually to the consulate or embassy in that State). Please explain the procedure and whether there are any conditions which must be fulfilled:

No such procedure exists.

12. Is it possible in your State for a putative legal mother to “voluntarily acknowledge” her legal maternity?

- Yes
 No
 Not applicable – legal maternity always arises by operation of law (see Question 8 above).

If so, please explain (1) if there are any restrictions placed upon who may undertake such an acknowledgement (e.g., it must be the genetic mother, the woman must be over a certain age, etc.), (2) the procedure for undertaking such an acknowledgement, and (3) whether the consent(s) of any others is / are required:

Legal maternity always arises by operation of law, either under the governing legislation (see answer to question 3 above), or through a declaratory order of the court.

In particular, please state whether it is possible for an individual to acknowledge legal maternity to representatives of your State authorities in another country (e.g., usually to the consulate or embassy in that State). Please explain the procedure and whether there are any conditions which must be fulfilled:

No such procedure exists.

13. Please explain the legal consequences in your State of a “voluntary acknowledgement” of legal parentage:

- a)  Once the acknowledgement is authenticated by the State authorities, the author of the acknowledgement is considered a legal parent of the child for all purposes
b)  The acknowledgement is merely a declaration by the author that he / she is a legal parent and says nothing of the State’s acceptance of that issue
c)  Other: please specify

The voluntary acknowledgement of paternity is given legal effect only where it meets the criteria set out in legislation for the presumptions of paternity. It can also be adduced as evidence for the consideration of the court in determining parentage.

14. Is it possible for legal parentage to be established by agreement between the putative parents?

- Yes
 No

If so, please explain the procedure which must be undertaken and specify any restrictions which operate:

An agreement between the birth mother and the person she acknowledges as the father of the child is sufficient as the basis for a joint request to register the father of a child born to an unmarried woman. Otherwise, an agreement is not sufficient in itself to establish parentage, although it can be considered as the basis for a declaratory order of the court.

15. Is it possible in your State for two persons of the same-sex to be the legal parents of a child?

- Yes
 No

If so, please explain the legal mechanisms available in your State which enable this. Please tick all which apply and provide a brief explanation of the rule(s) and procedure. This may arise by:

- a)  Operation of law:
b)  Order of the court or other State authorities:
c)  Adoption:
d)  Other:

The birth registration of a child born as a result of artificial insemination may be completed showing, with the written consent of the mother and her spouse or common-law partner (whether opposite-sex or same-sex), their particulars as the father or other parent of the child (see response to question 4 above).

Two persons of the same sex may seek a declaratory order clarifying parentage (see response to question 10 above).

An adult resident may apply to adopt a child, either alone or jointly with another person (including a person to whom they are married or with whom they are in a common-law relationship (whether opposite-sex or same-sex)). A same- or opposite-sex spouse or common-law partner can apply to adopt a child of their spouse/partner (this is known as a 'step parent adoption.')

Adoption Act, C.C.S.M. c. - <http://web2.gov.mb.ca/laws/statutes/ccsm/a002e.php>

C. Establishment of legal parentage where assisted reproductive technology ("ART")<sup>10</sup> has been used<sup>11</sup>

16. Is ART permitted in your State?

- Yes, all forms of ART are permitted
 Yes, but there are certain restrictions on the services available and who may access these services: please specify
 No, all forms of ART are completely prohibited – please go to Section D.
 Other: please explain

17. Is there regulation of the use of ART in your State?

<sup>10</sup> In this document, "assisted reproductive technology" ("ART") is used in a broad sense to refer to any method used to achieve conception which involves artificial or partially artificial means and which is undertaken by a medical / health clinic or institution: e.g., two of the most common methods are artificial insemination and in-vitro fertilisation. Donated gametes (egg and sperm) may be used but will not always be necessary. In this document, ART does not refer to "do-it-yourself" or "DIY" methods of non-procreative conception: i.e., where medical third parties are not involved in the procedure.

- Yes, legislation regulates the use of ART: please briefly explain
- Yes, there are rules or "codes of practice" concerning the use of ART which emanate from the medical regulatory bodies: please briefly explain Manitoba's College of Physicians and Surgeons has a regulatory (accreditation) regime as well as a sub-committee of their Central Standards Committee that is specific to the one fertility clinic that operates in the province.
- No, there are no rules at all – go to Question 19
- Other: please explain

18. If ART is regulated in your State, please state whether the legislation or rules specify the following matters (please tick all which apply and provide a brief explanation, where applicable):

- a)  Who may access ART services (e.g., relationship status; age or health requirements; nationality / residency requirements, etc.):
- b)  Who may perform ART services:
- c)  The regulation of medical or other institutions which perform ART services (e.g., the licensing of clinics or hospitals):
- d)  Which ART services may be performed:
- e)  Whether egg donation is permitted and, if so, under which conditions:
- f)  Whether sperm donation is permitted and, if so, under which conditions:
- g)  The costs of ART (including the amount paid to any gamete donors):
- h)  The anonymity of gamete donors:
- i)  The right of the child to know his / her genetic or birth origins:
- j)  The legal parentage of any child born as a result of ART (see also Questions 19 to 22 below)
- k)  Other: please explain

19. Please explain the consequences of ART for legal maternity arising by operation of law:

- a)  The woman giving birth to the child will always be considered the legal mother of the child, irrespective of any ART which has led to the birth
- b)  Other: please specify

Please explain whether the above position results from legislation, rules, case law or other source(s) of law:

Legal maternity always arises by operation of law, either under the governing legislation (see response to question 3 above), or through a declaratory order of the court.

Section 3(6) of the Vital Statistics Act

20. Please explain the consequences of ART for legal paternity arising by operation of law:

Please tick all boxes which apply:

- a)  The husband of the woman giving birth following ART is the legal father of the child born: please state whether it is necessary for him to have formally consented to the treatment:
- b)  The male partner of the woman giving birth following ART is the legal father of the child born: please state whether it is necessary for him to have formally consented to the treatment:
- c)  The genetic father will always be the legal father:
- d)  Other: please explain

Please explain whether the above position results from legislation, rules, case law or other source(s) of law:

There is no legislative requirement for the spouse or partner of the woman to formally consent to the ART treatment.

Where the child is born as a result of an ART procedure other than artificial insemination, the ordinary presumptions of paternity would apply - see response to question 9 above.

However, where the child is born as a result of artificial insemination, the particulars of the spouse or common-law partner will be included on the birth registration as the father or other parent only with the written consent of the mother and her spouse or common-law partner.

Section 3(6) of the Vital Statistics Act

21. Please explain whether gamete donors are, in any situations, considered the legal parent(s) of a child born as a result of ART:

Gamete donors, other than the birth mother and her spouse or common-law partner, would become parents of the child only where they either obtain a declaratory order of parentage from a court, or through adoption.

22. If your State permits same-sex couples to access ART services, please specify the consequences concerning legal parentage for any child born to a same-sex couple who have used ART to conceive a child:

See response to question 15 above. In the specific instance where a member of a lesbian couple conceives a child through the use of sperm from a known donor, there have been instances where the court allows the child to have three legal parents (see A.A. v. B.B. - <http://www.canlii.org/en/on/onca/doc/2007/2007onca2/2007onca2.html>). While this decision by the Ontario Court of Appeal is not binding on Manitoba courts, it may be considered by them if the issue arises in this province.

23. Is information available concerning how many ART procedures are undertaken in your State each year and how many children are born as a result?

- Yes: please provide a copy of, or a link to, the information
- No
- Other: please explain

Information is not collected concerning the number of ART procedures undertaken in Manitoba and the number of children born through such procedures. However, the Registration of Birth form requires parents to declare whether the child was conceived through the use of artificial insemination.

D. Surrogacy arrangements

Regulation of surrogacy

24. Does your State permit surrogacy arrangements?

- a)  Yes, all forms of surrogacy arrangements are permitted:
- i.  As a result of express legislation or rules: please specify
  - ii.  By default, because surrogacy is unregulated in internal law.
Go to Question 26.
- b)  No, any form of surrogacy is expressly prohibited by law: please specify, including any sanctions for breach of this prohibition:

Go to Question 26.
- c)  It depends upon the nature of surrogacy arrangement (e.g., commercial surrogacy arrangements are prohibited): please specify
- d)  Other: please specify Legislation in Manitoba does not prohibit surrogacy arrangements.

Please provide any clarification, where necessary:

25. If your State has legislation or rules permitting certain or all forms of surrogacy arrangements:

- a) Are the parties to the surrogacy arrangement required to obtain State approval of the arrangement prior to conception?
- Yes, pre-approval by the relevant State authorities is required. Please explain the procedure:
  - No, pre-approval is not required – the rules only regulate legal parentage following the birth of the child. Please explain the procedure:
No pre-approval of a surrogacy arrangement is required under legislation - see response to question 19 above.
  - Other: please specify
- b) Please state whether the following aspects of the surrogacy arrangement are regulated in the rules / legislation:

Please tick all which apply:

- i.  Who may be intending parents<sup>12</sup> to an arrangement, including:
  - a.  Nationality, domicile or residency requirements:<sup>13</sup>
please specify
  - b.  Marital or other relationship status:
  - c.  Age requirements:
  - d.  Health requirements:
  - e.  Psycho-social requirements:
  - f.  Other:

<sup>12</sup> Please note that, for simplicity, this document always refers to intending parents in the plural form. However, it is understood that, in some States and in certain circumstances, single persons may enter into a surrogacy arrangement. Please specify this, where relevant, in any response.

<sup>13</sup> See Parts II and III below for questions concerning the private international law rules regarding legal parentage and international surrogacy arrangements, respectively.

- ii.  Who may be a surrogate mother, including:
- a.  Nationality, domicile or residency requirements:<sup>14</sup>
please specify:
  - b.  Marital or other relationship status:
  - c.  Age requirements:
  - d.  Health requirements:
  - e.  Psycho-social requirements:
  - f.  The surrogate mother must already have her own children:
  - g.  Other:
- iii.  Which types of surrogacy arrangements are permitted, e.g., traditional and / or gestational,<sup>15</sup> etc.: please specify
- iv.  Which medical institutions or clinics may facilitate a surrogacy arrangement (where medical intervention is necessary for the type of surrogacy arrangement being undertaken) and the level of financial remuneration which may be paid for these services: please specify
- v.  Which other bodies or persons may facilitate a surrogacy arrangement (e.g., by acting as an intermediary and undertaking tasks such as advertising for surrogate mothers, "matching" surrogate mothers with intending parents, organising certain aspects of the arrangements for the intending parents, etc.) and whether such bodies or persons may receive financial compensation for their services: please specify
- vi.  Whether financial remuneration can be paid to the surrogate mother:
- a.  No financial remuneration at all is permitted
  - b.  Only reasonable expenses may be paid: in which case please state whether the legislation or rules define what are such "reasonable expenses":
  - c.  Compensation beyond reasonable expenses is permitted: please specify what exactly is permitted:
- vii.  Whether the surrogacy arrangement is contractually enforceable: please specify A surrogacy arrangement is likely not enforceable by a Manitoba court as a matter of public policy. Whether legal parentage should be awarded to the intended parents in a surrogacy arrangement would be determined by the courts on the basis of the best interests of the child involved.
- viii.  Who may make decisions concerning the pregnancy (e.g., whether an abortion should be undertaken in certain situations, what medical treatment should be undertaken if problems arise, etc.): please specify
- ix.  The legal parentage of the child following his / her birth (see further Questions 26 to 30 below):
- x.  Other: please specify
- c) Please explain any legal consequences, both criminal (e.g., penal sanctions) and civil (e.g., for the legal parentage of the child), if the requirements set down in the legislation or rules are not complied with:

<sup>14</sup> See Parts II and III below for questions on the private international law rules concerning legal parentage and international surrogacy arrangements, respectively.

- d) Please provide any additional information you think necessary concerning the nature of the regulation of surrogacy in your State:

Surrogacy and legal parentage

26. Upon the birth of a child following a surrogacy arrangement, who is / are the legal parent(s) by operation of law (i.e., without any further steps being taken by any individuals) according to the internal law of your State?

Please explain, including whether this results from legislation, case law or other source(s) of law:

The birth mother is the legal mother - see answer to question 19 above. The birth mother's husband or male common-law partner is presumed to be the father of the child - see response to question 9 above.

27. Where necessary, are there any legal mechanisms in your State to enable intending parents to establish their legal parentage?

Please tick all which apply:

- a)  Yes, prior to the birth the intending parents can seek a court order declaring that they will be the parents of the child born to a surrogacy arrangement (a "pre-birth order").

Please specify any legal requirements to obtain such an order (including any nationality / domicile / residency requirements) and state whether this position arises from legislation, case law or other source(s) of law:

Legislation provides that, prior to the birth, an intended father can seek a declaratory order of the court that he is the father of the unborn child. In a court application for a declaration of parentage, the court may give a party leave to obtain blood tests or other genetic tests of persons named by the court and to submit the results in evidence. Where a person so named refuses to submit to the test, the court may draw any inference it considers appropriate.

Section 20(1) of the Family Maintenance Act

- b)  Yes, following the birth the intending parents can seek a court order transferring legal parentage to them (in some States, known as a "parental order" or "parentage order").

Please specify any legal requirements to obtain such a transfer of legal parentage (including any nationality / domicile / residency requirements) and state whether this position arises from legislation, case law or other source(s) of law:

Following the birth, either an intended mother or an intended father or both may seek a declaratory order of the court.

Sections 19 (for the mother) and 20 (for the father) of the Family Maintenance Act

- c)  No
- d)  Other: please specify
- e)  Such mechanisms are unnecessary – the surrogacy contract is sufficient to establish the legal parentage of the intending parents.

- f)  Such mechanisms are unnecessary – the intending parents will be the legal parents upon the birth of the child by operation of law: see the response to Question 26 above.

28. Where a surrogacy arrangement has been undertaken in your State, will the fact of the surrogacy arrangement be visible on the child's birth record and / or certificate?

- Yes: please describe exactly what will be on the record and / or certificate

The birth register will indicate the particulars of the birth mother, and the court order by which other legal parents were declared.

- No: please explain

29. Is information available concerning how many surrogacy arrangements take place in your State each year and how many children are born as a result?

- Yes: please provide a copy of, or a link to, the information
 No
 Other: please explain

Information is not collected concerning the number of surrogacy arrangements that take place in Manitoba and the number of children born through such arrangements. However, there are some reported court decisions in some Canadian jurisdictions, and authorities are aware of some cases involving surrogacy arrangements.

See the response to question 10(c) above.

33. Is there a timeframe within which legal parentage must be challenged (i.e., after which time, any challenge to legal parentage is effectively barred)?

 In certain situations: please explain

See the response to question 10(d) above.

34. On what grounds may legal maternity be challenged before the authorities in your State?

- a)  Only on the basis that the "mother" did not, in fact, give birth to the child

 d)  Other: please explain

37. What happens to a child's birth record and / or birth certificate when legal parentage is successfully challenged?

- a)  The birth record and / or certificate is revised and the old record and / or certificate will be permanently deleted
 b)  The birth record and / or certificate is amended but the original record and / or certificate is retained
 c)  Other: please explain

F. The acquisition of nationality by children

38. How may a child acquire the nationality of your State?

Please tick all which apply:

- a)  By birth within the territory of the State
 b)  By "descent", where one or both of his / her legal parents is / are a national of the State: please explain which law, in this context, will apply to the question of who is / are the child's legal parents for the purposes of determining nationality:
 c)  By "descent", where one or both of his / her genetic parents is / are a national of the State: please explain how the genetic link must be evidenced:

39. Please state whether the law in your State concerning the matters covered in Part I above (i.e., birth registration, establishment and contestation of legal parentage, ART, surrogacy and nationality concerning children) has changed in the past five years, or whether any initiatives are underway (e.g., in government, before parliament or before the courts) to change the law in future:

40. Please provide any other information you consider relevant concerning cases (reported, or otherwise) or other developments which have occurred in your State in relation to the Questions appearing in Part I above.

Two cases of interest from the province of Ontario. While these decisions are not binding on the courts in other Canadian jurisdictions, they may be considered by them in similar instances.

A.A. v. B.B., 2007 ONCA 2 – Ontario Court of Appeal

The child was born to a lesbian couple using the sperm of a friend. Before the conception, the parties had agreed that the couple would be the primary caregivers and the biological father would remain involved in the child's life. The names of the birth mother and the biological father appeared on the birth certificate. When the child was 2 years old, the birth mother's partner applied for a declaration of parentage to also be recognized as the child's legal parent. The application was denied at first instance.

On appeal, the Court of Appeal found the Ontario Children's Law Reform Act (CLRA) to be deficient in that:

Present social conditions and attitudes have changed. Advances in our appreciation of the value of other types of relationships and in the science of reproductive technology have created gaps in the CLRA's legislative scheme. Because of these changes the parents of a child can be two women or two men. They are as much the child's parents as adopting parents or "natural" parents. The CLRA, however, does not recognize these forms of parenting and thus the children of these relationships are deprived of the equality of status that declarations of parentage provide.

The Court of Appeal also found that it was contrary to the child's best interests to be deprived of the legal recognition of the parentage of one of his mothers. Exercising parens patriae jurisdiction to fill the legislative deficiency, the Court issued a declaration of parentage in favour of the child's second mother.

M.D. v. L.L., 2008 CanLII 9374 – Ontario Superior Court of Justice

An application for a declaration of parentage was presented by the intending parents seeking an order declaring them to be the legal parents of the child and an order declaring the birth mother and her husband not to be the legal parents of the same child. Before the conception, the parties had entered into a “Gestational Carriage Agreement” whereby the birth mother agreed to act as a surrogate using the intended parents’ genetic material.

The Ontario Court issued the requested orders regarding the intending parents (declarations of parentage - paragraphs 36 to 39 of the decision) and the surrogate mother’s husband (a declaration of non-paternity - paragraphs 41 to 47) on the basis of provincial legislation (Ontario’s Children’s Law Reform Act and the Courts of Justice Act). The Court also issued a declaration of non-maternity regarding the surrogate mother pursuant to its jurisdiction to issue declarations and its inherent parens patriae jurisdiction (paragraphs 48 to 68 of the decision).

The Court stated in part:

“The declaration of non-parentage is, it seems to me, simply a clarification of status for the genetic parents, the surrogate mother and her spouse, vis a vis their respective relationships towards the child. Where there are two persons with potential claims to be the child’s mother, a declaration that one of them is the child’s mother might not preclude the other from also being that child’s mother. Thus, a declaration of non-maternity would clarify the status of the interested parties in a manner that is worthy of judicial determination.” (paragraph 55).

- Yes: please explain
- No

---

<sup>25</sup> In this paper, "cross-border reproductive care" is taken to mean when person(s) who wish to access ART services cross a border to do so, for whatever reason (often it is linked with the restrictive rules in their "home" jurisdiction, lower costs or better success rates abroad).

Other: please explain

Yes: please provide details

No

F. Legal developments and practical challenges

57. Please state whether the law in your State concerning the matters covered in Part II above (i.e., the PIL and co-operation rules concerning birth registration and the establishment, recognition and contestation of legal parentage) has changed in the past five years, or whether any initiatives are underway (e.g., in government, before Parliament or before the courts) to change the law in future:

58. Other than cases involving international surrogacy arrangements (as to which see Part III below), are there any other cases of which you are aware where difficulties have arisen in your State in relation to establishing, contesting, or recognising a child's legal parentage as a result of the cross-border movement of the child and / or his / her putative parents?

(Some possible examples can be found at Part IV (b) of Prel. Doc. No 11 of March 2011.)

Please provide as much detail as possible concerning the situation which arose and the difficulties encountered:

Part III: The particular challenges concerning International Surrogacy Arrangements<sup>26</sup> ("ISAs")

This Part asks for information regarding the experience of State authorities with ISAs. It is divided into two sections:<sup>27</sup>

- Section A asks a number of questions concerning "Incoming cases" of ISA: i.e., those cases in which your State was the State of residence of the intending parents, and the State to which it was sought to bring child(ren), born to a surrogate abroad, to live.
- Section B continues with questions concerning "Outgoing cases" of ISA: i.e., those cases where your State was the State in which the surrogate mother gave birth and from which the child(ren) needed to leave to travel to the State of residence of the intending parents in order to live with them in that State.

<sup>27</sup> Please note: it is understood that, in relation to both "Incoming" and "Outgoing" cases, there may be more than two States involved in a particular case: e.g., the surrogate may be resident in a different State to the State in which she travelled (or, in some cases, was trafficked) to give birth; in other cases, a gamete donor may be resident in a third State etc. Please explain any such elements in your responses to the questions in this part.

A. Incoming cases<sup>28</sup>

- This Section is inapplicable – there have been no “Incoming cases” of ISA in this State. Go to Section B.

Basic empirical data

59. Do you have any information concerning:

- a) The number of Incoming cases of ISA which have required the assistance of your State authorities in recent years?

- Yes – please provide any figures available:

Pre-2009

2010

2011

2012

2013 (so far)

- No information is available

- b) How many children have been born to surrogate mothers in another State as a result of ISAs involving intending parents resident in your State?

- Yes – please provide any figures available:

Pre-2009

2010

2011

2012

2013 (so far)

- No information is available

If you have provided any figures above, please comment upon whether you consider that these figures reflect the true number of Incoming cases of ISA involving your State<sup>29</sup> and, further, please provide a general comment concerning the prevalence of Incoming cases of ISAs and whether such cases have increased in the past five years:

If you have not provided figures above, are you able to provide any comment concerning the prevalence of Incoming cases of ISAs involving your State and / or whether this has increased in the past five years:

60. Please list all the States in which intending parents resident in your State have engaged a surrogate mother (i.e., entered into an ISA), insofar as you are aware:

<sup>28</sup> I.e., those cases where your State was the State of residence of the intending parent(s), and the State to which it was sought to bring the child(ren), born to a surrogate abroad, to live.

<sup>29</sup> Since it is recognised that there may be many cases which do not come to the attention of the State authorities.

The procedure for Incoming cases of ISA

61. Please explain the procedure, including any immigration and legal processes, which intending parents resident in your State need to undertake (before leaving your State, before returning to your State or upon return to your State, as applicable) in order to:

- a) Enter your State with a child born abroad as a result of an ISA:
- b) Reside permanently in your State with the child:
- c) Have their legal parentage recognised (or established) under the law of your State (if this is possible):

Please include an estimate of the time it may take to complete each stage of this process:

- a)
- b)
- c)

If the answer to this question varies depending upon the factors set out below, please provide a brief explanation, including the impact the particular factor has on the procedure which must be undertaken and any timeframes.

Please tick all which apply:

- iv.  The nationality of the intending parents: please explain

- Yes – please specify:
  - a) Which authorities in each State were involved:
  - b) The nature of the co-operation:
  - c) Whether the co-operation resulted from legislation, guidelines or practice:

63. In your experience, which documents are generally produced to your State authorities to substantiate the claim of the intending parents to an ISA to legal parentage?

Please tick all which apply:

- a)  A birth certificate from the State of birth, including the name(s) of the intending parents: please state from which countries these birth certificates originate and any other details necessary:
- b)  An amended birth certificate from the State of birth, including the name(s) of the intending parents: please state from which countries these amended certificates originate and any other details necessary:
