drawn up by the Permanent Bureau

INTRODUCTION

This Questionnaire is addressed to Members of the Hague Conference and other interested States in fulfilment of the mandate provided by the Council on General Affairs and Policy of the Conference ("the Council") in April 2012, following consideration of Preliminary Document No 10 of March 2012.¹ The Council requested that the Permanent Bureau "continue the current work under the 2011 Council mandate and further prepare and distribute a Questionnaire in order to obtain more detailed information regarding the extent and nature of the private international law issues being encountered in relation to international surrogacy arrangements, as well as in relation to legal parentage or "filiation" more broadly. The Questionnaire shall seek views on the needs to be addressed and approaches to be taken. The Permanent Bureau is invited to present its final Report to the Council in 2014".²

A detailed chronology of the background to this project is available on the website of the Hague Conference < www.hcch.net >, under "The Parentage / Surrogacy Project", then "Chronology of the Project (including relevant documentation)".

This Questionnaire has five parts:

- Part I contains questions on the internal law concerning the establishment and contestation of legal parentage in Member and interested States;
- Part II looks to the private international law ("PIL") and co-operation rules concerning birth registration and the establishment, recognition and contestation of legal parentage;
- Part III addresses the particular challenges concerning International Surrogacy Arrangements³ ("ISAs");
- Part IV considers the current bilateral or multilateral instruments in the field; and
- Part V asks for thoughts on possible future work in this area.

Please note that the Permanent Bureau has used the same terminology in this Questionnaire as that which was used in the Glossary annexed to Preliminary Document No 10 of March 2012. This Glossary is accessible on the webpage of the project, "The Parentage / Surrogacy Project", then "Chronology of the Project (including relevant documentation)" and then "2011 - 2013".

The Permanent Bureau invites responses to the Questionnaire (in either English or French) by no later than 1 August 2013 in order to allow the Permanent Bureau sufficient time to consider the responses and to prepare the final Report requested by Members for the Council of 2014. Answers should be sent by e-mail to < secretariat@hcch.net > with the following heading and indication in the subject field: "Questionnaire - Parentage / Surrogacy - [name of Member, State or territorial unit, where applicable]".

It is acknowledged that this is a detailed Questionnaire and that, due to the legal position in some States, it may not be possible for Members and interested States to respond to all of the questions. The Permanent Bureau is extremely grateful for any information which may be provided. It is also hoped that the detailed information in the responses to this Questionnaire may be of use to Members beyond this project: for example, where consideration is being given, now or in the future, to domestic legislation in any of the areas considered below.

¹ Prel. Doc. No 10 of March 2012, "A Preliminary Report on the issues arising from international surrogacy arrangements", drawn up by the Permanent Bureau. See also the earlier Prel. Doc. No 11 of March 2011, "Private international law issues surrounding the status of children, including issues arising from international surrogacy arrangements", also drawn up by the Permanent Bureau.

² Conclusions and Recommendations of the Council on General Affairs and Policy of the Conference, 17-20 April 2012, para. 21. The "2011 Council mandate" referred to therein can be found at paras 17 to 20 of the Conclusions and Recommendations of the Council on General Affairs and Policy of the Conference, 5-7 April 2011.

³ See the Glossary annexed to Prel. Doc. No 10 of March 2012 (see note 1) for the definition of the terms used in this paper.

Please note: the Permanent Bureau intends, except where expressly asked not to do so, to place replies to this Questionnaire on the website of the Hague Conference.

QUESTIONNAIRE

Note: wherever possible, please provide a copy of, or a web-link to, any legislation, rules or case law mentioned in your response, along with a translation into English or French.

Part I: Internal law concerning the establishment and contestation of legal parentage

A. Birth registration

1. Please indicate which authorities in your State are responsible for registering the birth of a child:

The National Register of persons and civil registration (Registers Iceland) is responsible for registering the birth of children in Iceland.

2. Please briefly describe the procedure for birth registration in your State, indicating whether such registration is mandatory⁴ and providing details concerning any specific rules which must be complied with (e.g., within what timeframe must a birth be registered, who can register a birth and where must the birth be registered):

Children are registered in Registers Iceland immediately after birth. Midwives are responsible for sending birth certificates to the registry.

An electronic system is used to send the information from the hospital where the child was born to the registry. The child gets a personal ID number at this point.

Majority of births in Iceland are registered with the electronic system. However if a child is born at home (few cases each year) the Midwife sends a hard copy of the birth certificate to the registry.

The registration of a child is mandatory and shall take place immediately after the child is born, or as soon as possible after the birth. Otherwise there is no timeframe regarding the registration.

See Article 7 of the Children Act No. 76/2003.

3. Please explain what proof (evidence), if any, of legal maternity is required by the authorities in your State in order to register a putative⁵ legal mother:

Please tick all which apply:

- a) Hospital birth record (stating the name of the woman who gave birth to the child)
- b) Sworn statement by the putative legal mother stating that she gave birth to the child
- c) Signed statement by the putative legal mother stating that she gave birth to the child

⁴ See Art. 7 of the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child ("UNCRC"), 20 November 1989, which states that, "The child shall be registered immediately after birth and shall have the right from birth to a name, the right to acquire a nationality and, as far as possible, the right to know and be cared for by his or her parents."

⁵ "Putative" means "generally considered or reputed to be" and, in this document, is taken to mean the woman or man claiming or claimed (where it is not the individual him or herself making the assertion) to be the legal mother or father, respectively, of the child.

- d) DNA test to prove a genetic link between the putative legal mother and child
 e) Other: please explain DNA test might be required to establish the maternity of an abandoned child found in Iceland.

4. Please explain what proof (evidence), if any, of legal paternity is required by the authorities in your State in order to register a putative legal father:

Please tick all which apply:

- a) Formal acknowledgement⁶ by the putative legal father
 b) Formal acknowledgement by the putative legal father, with the legal mother and / or the child's evidenced consent: please specify The mother must declare that the putative legal father is the father of her child.
 c) Judicial decision (court order) establishing or confirming legal paternity
 d) Sworn statement by the putative legal father stating that he is the genetic father
 e) Signed statement by the putative legal father stating that he is the genetic father
 f) Signed agreement between the legal mother and putative legal father
 g) DNA test to prove a genetic link between the putative legal father and child
 h) Other: please explain

5. What are the legal consequences in the internal law of your State of registering persons in the State records⁷ as the parents of a child?

- a) Those persons are the legal parents of the child for all purposes, unless and until the record is contested, and all the legal consequences which flow from legal parentage in your State will automatically follow (e.g., duty to provide maintenance, inheritance rules, naming rules, etc.):
 b) Other: please explain

6. Are there any penalties for failing to comply with the rules concerning birth registration in your State: for example, misrepresenting to the authorities who are / is the legal parent(s) of the child?

In practice there are no penalties. However, misrepresenting information to the authorities, e.g. the use of false document for the purpose of deception, can be illegal according to the General Penal Code.

Web link to the General Penal Code No. 19/1940:

<http://eng.innanrikisraduneyti.is/laws-and-regulations/english/penal-code-and-punishment/nr/1145>

7. Is it possible to give birth anonymously in your State?

- Yes
 No

If so, please explain any rules which apply to such an anonymous birth and state what will appear on the child's birth record and / or birth certificate:⁸

⁶ In some States, this is called a "recognition" of paternity: the term "acknowledgement" is used in this document to avoid confusion with the private international law concept of "recognition". See further Questions 11 et seq. below.

⁷ It is acknowledged that there are different methods of recording births (and therefore legal parentage) across States, as well as different rules concerning matters such as when birth certificates will be issued, what information should be contained within the certificate and their constitutive value. Where applicable, please provide information concerning the rules in your State.

⁸ In this document, the "birth record" is taken to mean the information concerning the child's birth (including legal parentage) which is stored in the records of the relevant State authority (usually a registry). In contrast, the "birth certificate" is taken to mean the extract from this birth record which is usually given to the legal parent(s) to keep. In some States it may be that the information contained within the birth record is

B. Establishment of legal parentage

8. Who, upon the birth of a child, is the legal mother by operation of law in your State (i.e., with no need for the woman to take any steps to establish her legal maternity)?
- The woman who gives birth to the child
 - The genetic mother (i.e., the woman whose gamete (egg) created the child)
 - There is no legal mother by operation of law: please explain
 - Other: please explain
9. Who, upon the birth of a child, is the legal father by operation of law in your State (i.e., with no need for the man to take any steps to establish his legal paternity)?
- The husband of the woman who gave birth is presumed to be the legal father
 - The male partner of the woman who gave birth is presumed to be the legal father – please provide any conditions (e.g., the couple must be cohabiting, etc.) Cohabitation must be registered in Registers Iceland.
 - The genetic father (i.e., the man whose gamete (sperm) created the child)
 - There is no legal father by operation of law: please explain
 - Other: please explain The same, as in (a) above, shall apply if the child is born so soon after the dissolution of the marriage as to make it possible that it was conceived during the marriage.

If legal presumptions operate in your State, please specify in what circumstances, if any, it is possible to “rebut” these presumptions: A court action to contest the child’s paternity may be brought before a District Court.

10. a) Is it possible in your State for a non-contentious (i.e., unchallenged) application to be made to the relevant State authorities for a decision (sometimes called a “declaration”) establishing or confirming the legal parentage of a child?
- Yes – go to Question 10 b).
 - No – go to Question 11.
- b) Please explain to which State authorities such an application should be made:
- The authority responsible for birth registration (see Question 1 above)
 - The judicial authorities (i.e., the courts): please specify
 - Other State administrative authorities: please specify
 - Other: please explain
- c) Please explain who may bring such an application:
- Only the individuals currently considered to be the legal mother and / or father and / or the child
 - Any person claiming to be the legal mother and / or father of a child
 - Any person determined by the State authorities to have sufficient interest to bring a claim: please explain how the authorities determine this question:
 - Any person
 - Other: please explain
- d) Is there a timeframe within which such an application must be made?

comprehensive (e.g., if the child has been adopted, the birth record will identify the birth parent(s)), whereas the birth certificate may provide only a limited part of this information. See also ibid.

- Yes, please specify:
 No
 In certain situations: please explain

11. Is it possible in your State for a putative legal father to "voluntarily acknowledge"⁹ his legal paternity (if his legal paternity has not arisen by operation of law – see Question 9 above)?

- Yes
 No

If so, please explain (1) if there are any restrictions placed upon who may undertake such an acknowledgement (e.g., it must be the genetic father, the man must be over a certain age, etc.), (2) the procedure for undertaking such an acknowledgement, and (3) whether the consent(s) of the mother and / or child are required:

(1) It must be a man whom a woman declares to be the father of her child.

(2) The putative legal father can admit his paternity of the child by giving a written declaration (admission of paternity) to a district commissioner, before a judge in an paternity action or by letter. He shall then be regarded as the father of the child. If the declaration is made in a letter, the signature to the letter shall be confirmed by a district court attorney or a Supreme Court attorney or by two witnesses. It shall be stated there that the person making the declaration has signed his name, or acknowledged his signature, in the presence of the person or persons who confirm that it is his signature. The witnesses shall state their ID numbers or, as appropriate, their dates of birth and addresses.

If the declared father is not legally competent, his declaration shall be made before a district commissioner or a judge with his legal guardian present. If the mental condition of a man alleged to be the father of a child is such as to make it uncertain whether he understands the significance of an admission of paternity, the matter shall be resolved by a court judgement.

(3) The consent of the mother is required.

In particular, please state whether it is possible for an individual to acknowledge legal paternity to representatives of your State authorities in another country (e.g., usually to the consulate or embassy in that State). Please explain the procedure and whether there are any conditions which must be fulfilled:

An individual who wants to acknowledge legal paternity can get assistance from Icelandic embassies abroad.

The putative legal father can get assistance from an embassy to acknowledge his paternity by giving a written declaration after a woman declares him to be the father of the child. The embassy would however send the declaration to Registers Iceland or the relevant District Commissioner.

12. Is it possible in your State for a putative legal mother to "voluntarily acknowledge" her legal maternity?

- Yes
 No

⁹ See note 6 above.

- Not applicable – legal maternity always arises by operation of law (see Question 8 above).

If so, please explain (1) if there are any restrictions placed upon who may undertake such an acknowledgement (e.g., it must be the genetic mother, the woman must be over a certain age, etc.), (2) the procedure for undertaking such an acknowledgement, and (3) whether the consent(s) of any others is / are required:

In particular, please state whether it is possible for an individual to acknowledge legal maternity to representatives of your State authorities in another country (e.g., usually to the consulate or embassy in that State). Please explain the procedure and whether there are any conditions which must be fulfilled:

13. Please explain the legal consequences in your State of a “voluntary acknowledgement” of legal parentage:

- a) Once the acknowledgement is authenticated by the State authorities, the author of the acknowledgement is considered a legal parent of the child for all purposes
- b) The acknowledgement is merely a declaration by the author that he / she is a legal parent and says nothing of the State’s acceptance of that issue
- c) Other: please specify

14. Is it possible for legal parentage to be established by agreement between the putative parents?

- Yes
- No

If so, please explain the procedure which must be undertaken and specify any restrictions which operate:

15. Is it possible in your State for two persons of the same-sex to be the legal parents of a child?

- Yes
- No

If so, please explain the legal mechanisms available in your State which enable this. Please tick all which apply and provide a brief explanation of the rule(s) and procedure. This may arise by:

- a) Operation of law: According to Article 6 (2) of the Children Act, a woman who has given consent for her wife (female partner) to undergo assisted conception treatment under the Assisted Conception Act shall be regarded as the parent of the child conceived in this way. The same shall apply to women who have registered their partnership in the National Register.
- b) Order of the court or other State authorities:
- c) Adoption: According to Article 2 of the Adoption Act, a married couple of the same-sex can jointly take part in an adoption process. The same applies to individuals of the same sex who have been cohabiting for a period of at least five years. It is also possible for an individual in cohabitation with another person of the same sex, to be granted permission to adopt the child or the adopted child of the other, with his/her consent to the adoption.

d) Other:

C. Establishment of legal parentage where assisted reproductive technology ("ART")¹⁰ has been used¹¹

16. Is ART permitted in your State?

- Yes, all forms of ART are permitted
- Yes, but there are certain restrictions on the services available and who may access these services: please specify See Act on Artificial Fertilisation and use of Human Gametes and Embryos for Stem-Cell Research, No. 55/1996. English version: http://eng.velferdarraduneyti.is/media/acrobat-enskar_sidur/Act_No_55_1996_on_Artificial_Fertilisation_etc_as_amended.pdf

- No, all forms of ART are completely prohibited – please go to Section D.
- Other: please explain

17. Is there regulation of the use of ART in your State?

- Yes, legislation regulates the use of ART: please briefly explain

Act on Artificial Fertilisation and use of Human Gametes and Embryos for Stem-Cell Research, No. 55/1996.

English version:

http://eng.velferdarraduneyti.is/media/acrobat-enskar_sidur/Act_No_55_1996_on_Artificial_Fertilisation_etc_as_amended.pdf.

In addition there is a Regulation on Artificial Fertilisation No 144/2009, <http://www.reglugerd.is/interpro/dkm/WebGuard.nsf/key2/144-2009> (English version not available).

- Yes, there are rules or "codes of practice" concerning the use of ART which emanate from the medical regulatory bodies: please briefly explain
- No, there are no rules at all – go to Question 19
- Other: please explain

18. If ART is regulated in your State, please state whether the legislation or rules specify the following matters (please tick all which apply and provide a brief explanation, where applicable):

- a) Who may access ART services (e.g., relationship status; age or health requirements; nationality / residency requirements, etc.): ART services are available to married couples and couples in registered cohabitation. The service is also available for female partners and single women. No exact age requirements. Article 3 of the ART Act: Artificial fertilisation may only be carried out if: a. the written and witnessed consent of the woman has been given. If the woman is married or in cohabitation, the witnessed written consent of the other party must also have been given, b. the child to be conceived by the procedure may be deemed to be ensured good conditions in which to grow up, c. the woman is of natural child-bearing age and has the physical capability and sufficiently good health to cope with the strain of the treatment, pregnancy and birth of the child. A factor to be taken into account is that the pregnancy and birth not be expected to entail damaging consequences for mother or child, on the basis of normal medical and obstetric standards, d. the mental health and social circumstances of the couple or woman are good. There are no nationality or residency requirements.

¹⁰ In this document, "assisted reproductive technology" ("ART") is used in a broad sense to refer to any method used to achieve conception which involves artificial or partially artificial means and which is undertaken by a medical / health clinic or institution: e.g., two of the most common methods are artificial insemination and in-vitro fertilisation. Donated gametes (egg and sperm) may be used but will not always be necessary. In this document, ART does not refer to "do-it-yourself" or "DIY" methods of non-procreative conception: i.e., where medical third parties are not involved in the procedure.

- b) Who may perform ART services: It can be derived from the Icelandic ART legislation that only licensed physicians can perform ART services.
- c) The regulation of medical or other institutions which perform ART services (e.g., the licensing of clinics or hospitals): Artificial fertilisation may only be carried out at a health institution which has obtained a licence from the Minister for that purpose and under the supervision of specialists in gynaecology and obstetrics, cf. Article 2 of the Icelandic ART Act.
- d) Which ART services may be performed: According to Article 4 of the Icelandic ART legislation artificial fertilisation may be carried out by artificial insemination or by in vitro fertilisation. These techniques are defined in Article 1 of the Act.
- e) Whether egg donation is permitted and, if so, under which conditions: Egg donation is permitted. Article 5 of the ART Act: Artificial fertilisation with donor gametes may only be carried out if fertility is impaired, or in the case of a serious hereditary disease, or if other medical reasons indicate use of donor gametes.
- f) Whether sperm donation is permitted and, if so, under which conditions: Sperm donation is permitted. Article 5 of the ART Act: Artificial fertilisation with donor gametes may only be carried out if fertility is impaired, or in the case of a serious hereditary disease, or if other medical reasons indicate use of donor gametes.
- g) The costs of ART (including the amount paid to any gamete donors): The ART services provided in Iceland are on a private market but according to a special regulation, issued on the basis of the Act on Health Insurance, the Icelandic Health Insurance pays part of the cost.
- h) The anonymity of gamete donors: Is optional. Article 4 of the ART Act: The physician providing treatment shall choose a suitable donor. Should a donor request anonymity, health workers must ensure that this wish be respected. In such cases information may not be provided to the donor on the couple receiving donor gametes, nor about the child, nor may the couple or the child receive information on the donor. Should the donor not request anonymity, the institution shall keep information on the donor in a special file. Should the donation of gametes result in the birth of a child, data on the child and on the couple who received the donated gametes shall be kept in the same file. A child conceived as a result of a donation of gametes, where the donor did not request anonymity, may at the age of 18 request access to the records under paragraph 3, in order to acquire information on the name of the donor. Should a child receive information on the gamete donor from the institution, the institution shall, as soon as possible, inform the donor that the information has been provided.
- i) The right of the child to know his / her genetic or birth origins: See answer to question 18 h).
- j) The legal parentage of any child born as a result of ART (see also Questions 19 to 22 below)

- k) Other: please explain Please note that rules on the costs of ART and legal parentage of any child born as a result of ART is regulated with other legislation, not the Icelandic ART Act. According to Article 2 of the Icelandic ART Act a health institution granted a licence must offer those who apply for artificial fertilisation, and prospective donors, professional counselling by specialists, such as social workers or psychologists. There are special rules on the storage of gametes and embryos. Violation of the provisions of the ART act or of rules based on it entails fines or imprisonment of up to three months.

19. Please explain the consequences of ART for legal maternity arising by operation of law:

- a) The woman giving birth to the child will always be considered the legal mother of the child, irrespective of any ART which has led to the birth
 b) Other: please specify

Please explain whether the above position results from legislation, rules, case law or other source(s) of law:

The above position results from article 6 of the Children Act: A woman who gives birth to a child conceived by assisted conception shall be regarded as its mother.

20. Please explain the consequences of ART for legal paternity arising by operation of law:

Please tick all boxes which apply:

- a) The husband of the woman giving birth following ART is the legal father of the child born: please state whether it is necessary for him to have formally consented to the treatment: It is necessary for the husband to give his consent for the treatment.
 b) The male partner of the woman giving birth following ART is the legal father of the child born: please state whether it is necessary for him to have formally consented to the treatment: It is necessary for the male partner to give his consent for the treatment.
 c) The genetic father will always be the legal father:
 d) Other: please explain

Please explain whether the above position results from legislation, rules, case law or other source(s) of law:

The above position is a result from article 6 of the Children Act: A man who has given consent for his wife to undergo assisted conception treatment under the Assisted Conception Act shall be regarded as the father of the child conceived in this way. The same shall apply to a man and a woman who have registered their cohabitation in the National Register.

21. Please explain whether gamete donors are, in any situations, considered the legal parent(s) of a child born as a result of ART:

A man who donates sperm for use in assisted conception treatment of a woman other than his wife or cohabiting partner under the Assisted Conception Act may not be identified by a court judgement as the father of the child conceived with his sperm.

However it is possible that a man who has donated sperm for a purpose other than for use in assisted conception treatment shall be regarded as the father of a child conceived with his sperm unless the sperm has been used without his knowledge or after his death.

22. If your State permits same-sex couples to access ART services, please specify the consequences concerning legal parentage for any child born to a same-sex couple who have used ART to conceive a child:

A woman who has given consent for her wife (female partner) to undergo assisted conception treatment under the Assisted Conception Act shall be regarded as the parent of the child conceived in this way. The same shall apply to women who have registered their partnership in the National Register.

23. Is information available concerning how many ART procedures are undertaken in your State each year and how many children are born as a result?

- Yes: please provide a copy of, or a link to, the information
 No
 Other: please explain

D. Surrogacy arrangements

Regulation of surrogacy

24. Does your State permit surrogacy arrangements?

- a) Yes, all forms of surrogacy arrangements are permitted:
 i. As a result of express legislation or rules: please specify
 ii. By default, because surrogacy is unregulated in internal law.
 Go to Question 26.
- b) No, any form of surrogacy is expressly prohibited by law: please specify, including any sanctions for breach of this prohibition:
 Surrogacy, using ART techniques, is prohibited. According to the Act on Artificial Fertilisation and use of Human Gametes and Embryos for Stem-Cell Research, No. 55/1996 (English version: http://eng.velferdarraduneyti.is/media/acrobat-enskar_sidur/Act_No_55_1996_on_Artificial_Fertilisation_etc_as_amended.pdf) surrogacy is prohibited. Surrogacy is defined as artificial fertilisation performed on a woman who intends to carry a child for another woman, and has agreed before the pregnancy to give up the child immediately after the birth.
 Go to Question 26.
- c) It depends upon the nature of surrogacy arrangement (e.g., commercial surrogacy arrangements are prohibited): please specify
- d) Other: please specify

Please provide any clarification, where necessary:

25. If your State has legislation or rules permitting certain or all forms of surrogacy arrangements:

- a) Are the parties to the surrogacy arrangement required to obtain State approval of the arrangement prior to conception?

- Yes, pre-approval by the relevant State authorities is required. Please explain the procedure:
- No, pre-approval is not required – the rules only regulate legal parentage following the birth of the child. Please explain the procedure:
- Other: please specify

b) Please state whether the following aspects of the surrogacy arrangement are regulated in the rules / legislation:

Please tick all which apply:

- i. Who may be intending parents¹² to an arrangement, including:
 - a. Nationality, domicile or residency requirements:¹³
please specify
 - b. Marital or other relationship status:
 - c. Age requirements:
 - d. Health requirements:
 - e. Psycho-social requirements:
 - f. Other:
- ii. Who may be a surrogate mother, including:
 - a. Nationality, domicile or residency requirements:¹⁴
please specify:
 - b. Marital or other relationship status:
 - c. Age requirements:
 - d. Health requirements:
 - e. Psycho-social requirements:
 - f. The surrogate mother must already have her own children:
 - g. Other:
- iii. Which types of surrogacy arrangements are permitted, e.g., traditional and / or gestational,¹⁵ etc.: please specify
- iv. Which medical institutions or clinics may facilitate a surrogacy arrangement (where medical intervention is necessary for the type of surrogacy arrangement being undertaken) and the level of financial remuneration which may be paid for these services: please specify
- v. Which other bodies or persons may facilitate a surrogacy arrangement (e.g., by acting as an intermediary and undertaking tasks such as advertising for surrogate mothers, “matching” surrogate mothers with intending parents, organising certain aspects of the arrangements for the intending parents, etc.) and whether such bodies or persons may receive financial compensation for their services: please specify
- vi. Whether financial remuneration can be paid to the surrogate mother:
 - a. No financial remuneration at all is permitted
 - b. Only reasonable expenses may be paid: in which case please state whether the legislation or rules define what are such “reasonable expenses”:

¹² Please note that, for simplicity, this document always refers to intending parents in the plural form. However, it is understood that, in some States and in certain circumstances, single persons may enter into a surrogacy arrangement. Please specify this, where relevant, in any response.

¹³ See Parts II and III below for questions concerning the private international law rules regarding legal parentage and international surrogacy arrangements, respectively.

¹⁴ See Parts II and III below for questions on the private international law rules concerning legal parentage and international surrogacy arrangements, respectively.

¹⁵ See the Glossary for the definition of the terms used in this paper.

- c. Compensation beyond reasonable expenses is permitted: please specify what exactly is permitted:
- vii. Whether the surrogacy arrangement is contractually enforceable: please specify
- viii. Who may make decisions concerning the pregnancy (e.g., whether an abortion should be undertaken in certain situations, what medical treatment should be undertaken if problems arise, etc.): please specify
- ix. The legal parentage of the child following his / her birth (see further Questions 26 to 30 below):
- x. Other: please specify
- c) Please explain any legal consequences, both criminal (e.g., penal sanctions) and civil (e.g., for the legal parentage of the child), if the requirements set down in the legislation or rules are not complied with:
- d) Please provide any additional information you think necessary concerning the nature of the regulation of surrogacy in your State:

Surrogacy and legal parentage

26. Upon the birth of a child following a surrogacy arrangement, who is / are the legal parent(s) by operation of law (i.e., without any further steps being taken by any individuals) according to the internal law of your State?

Please explain, including whether this results from legislation, case law or other source(s) of law:

Surrogacy is prohibited in Iceland (Article 5 (4) of the Artificial Fertilisation Act)

A woman who gives birth to a child is always regarded as the child's mother.

A woman who gives birth to a child conceived by assisted conception shall be regarded as its mother. The same applies to artificial fertilisation performed on a woman who intends to carry a child for another woman, and has agreed before the pregnancy to give up the child immediately after the birth. (Article 6 (1) of the Children Act)

27. Where necessary, are there any legal mechanisms in your State to enable intending parents to establish their legal parentage?

Please tick all which apply:

- a) Yes, prior to the birth the intending parents can seek a court order declaring that they will be the parents of the child born to a surrogacy arrangement (a "pre-birth order").

Please specify any legal requirements to obtain such an order (including any nationality / domicile / residency requirements) and state whether this position arises from legislation, case law or other source(s) of law:

- b) Yes, following the birth the intending parents can seek a court order transferring legal parentage to them (in some States, known as a "parental order" or "parentage order").

Please specify any legal requirements to obtain such a transfer of legal parentage (including any nationality / domicile / residency requirements) and state whether this position arises from legislation, case law or other source(s) of law:

- c) No
- d) Other: please specify
- e) Such mechanisms are unnecessary – the surrogacy contract is sufficient to establish the legal parentage of the intending parents.
- f) Such mechanisms are unnecessary – the intending parents will be the legal parents upon the birth of the child by operation of law: see the response to Question 26 above.

28. Where a surrogacy arrangement has been undertaken in your State, will the fact of the surrogacy arrangement be visible on the child's birth record and / or certificate?

- Yes: please describe exactly what will be on the record and / or certificate
- No: please explain Not applicable. Surrogacy is prohibited in Iceland.

29. Is information available concerning how many surrogacy arrangements take place in your State each year and how many children are born as a result?

- Yes: please provide a copy of, or a link to, the information
- No
- Other: please explain

30. Are you aware of any illegal practices in your State concerning surrogacy arrangements?

- Yes – please state the practices of which you are aware and, if possible, how frequently they are occurring: There is knowledge of less than ten incidents of cross-border surrogacy arrangements (although involving more than five children), whereby Icelandic parents hire a foreign surrogate mother for example in USA or India. In addition, there are also known incidents of surrogacy where insemination of the surrogate mother is done at home.
- No
- Other: please explain

E. Contestation of legal parentage

31. Which authority(ies) in your State may determine a dispute concerning legal parentage?

- a) The authority responsible for birth registration (see Question 1 above)
- b) The judicial authorities (i.e., the courts): please specify A court action to determine a child's paternity, to contest paternity or to invalidate admissions of paternity can be conducted before a District Court.
- c) Other State administrative authorities: please specify
- d) Other: please explain

32. Who may bring an action to challenge legal parentage?

- a) Only the individuals currently considered to be the legal mother and / or father and / or the child
- b) Any person claiming to be the legal mother and / or father of a child
- c) Any person determined by the State authorities to have sufficient interest to bring a claim: please explain how the authorities determine this question
- d) Any person
- e) Other: please explain

A case to determine a child's paternity may be brought by the child, the child's mother or a man who believes he is the father of the child, provided that the paternity of the child has not been established. A woman who has given consent for her wife (registered female partner) to undergo assisted conception treatment under the Assisted Conception Act can also bring an action to determine a child's paternity. (Article 10 of the Childrens Act)

A case to contest paternity may be brought by the child and the child's mother. Also by the person registered as the child's father according to the pater-est rule, and after his death, by the person among his statutory heirs who is closest to the child, or equal to the child, in terms of right of inheritance. (Article 21 (1) of the Childrens Act)

A case to invalidate an admission of paternity may be brought by the child, the child's mother and by the person who has admitted to paternity.(Article 21 (2) of the Childrens Act)

33. Is there a timeframe within which legal parentage must be challenged (i.e., after which time, any challenge to legal parentage is effectively barred)?

- Yes, please specify:
- No
- In certain situations: please explain

34. On what grounds may legal maternity be challenged before the authorities in your State?

- a) Only on the basis that the "mother" did not, in fact, give birth to the child
- b) Only on the basis that the "mother" is not, in fact, the genetic mother of the child (i.e., the woman from whom the gamete (egg) came)
- c) Other: please explain

35. On what grounds may legal paternity be challenged before the authorities in your State?

- a) Only on the basis that the "father" is not, in fact, the genetic father of the child (i.e., the man from whom the gamete (sperm) came)
- b) Other: please explain

36. What are the legal consequences of a successful challenge concerning legal parentage?

- a) The decision of the State authorities concerning legal parentage is binding erga omnes (i.e., on all persons, for all purposes)
- b) The decision of the State authorities will only be binding for limited, specific purposes: please explain
- c) It depends upon the context in which the challenge has been made (e.g., if in the context of a maintenance claim, it will be binding only as concerns the payment of maintenance): please explain
- d) Other: please explain

37. What happens to a child's birth record and / or birth certificate when legal parentage is successfully challenged?

- a) The birth record and / or certificate is revised and the old record and / or certificate will be permanently deleted
- b) The birth record and / or certificate is amended but the original record and / or certificate is retained
- c) Other: please explain

F. The acquisition of nationality by children

38. How may a child acquire the nationality of your State?

Please tick all which apply:

- a) By birth within the territory of the State
- b) By "descent", where one or both of his / her legal parents is / are a national of the State: please explain which law, in this context, will apply to the question of who is / are the child's legal parents for the purposes of determining nationality:
- c) By "descent", where one or both of his / her genetic parents is / are a national of the State: please explain how the genetic link must be evidenced:
- d) If the child would otherwise be "stateless" (i.e., without the nationality of any other State):¹⁶ please specify
- e) Other: please specify

A child acquires Icelandic citizenship at birth if its mother is an Icelandic citizen. A child also acquires citizenship if its father is an Icelandic citizen and is married to the mother. This shall however not apply if the couple had obtained a judicial separation at the time when the child was conceived. A child found abandoned in Iceland shall, in the absence of proof to the contrary, be considered an Icelandic citizen.

If an unmarried woman who is a foreign national has a child in Iceland, it shall acquire Icelandic citizenship if a man who is an Icelandic citizen is its father under the Children's Act.

If an unmarried woman who is a foreign national has a child abroad by a man who is an Icelandic citizen, the father may, before the child reaches the age of 18, apply to the Ministry of Interior for the child to receive Icelandic citizenship. He shall however consult the child if it is over the age of 12. If, in the opinion of the Ministry, he submits satisfactory evidence concerning the child and his paternity, the child shall acquire Icelandic citizenship on approval by the ministry. If the child's parents marry, the child shall acquire Icelandic citizenship from the time of the marriage, providing the child has not married and has not attained the age of 18 years.

A foreign child that is adopted by an Icelandic national with the permission of the Icelandic authorities shall acquire Icelandic citizenship on adoption if it is under the age of 12.

A citizenship may also be granted to a child born in Iceland that has demonstrably not acquired other citizenship at birth and has not yet acquired Icelandic citizenship or the right to acquire it when the application is made. The child shall have been domiciled and resident in Iceland for at least three years from birth.

G. Legal developments

39. Please state whether the law in your State concerning the matters covered in Part I above (i.e., birth registration, establishment and contestation of legal parentage, ART, surrogacy and nationality concerning children) has changed in the past five years, or whether any initiatives are underway (e.g., in government, before parliament or before the courts) to change the law in future:

On the 18th of January 2012 Althingi (The Icelandic Parliament) passed a parliamentary resolution calling on the Minister of Welfare to assemble a working group to prepare a parliamentary bill to allow surrogacy for benevolent purposes. The resolution states that the bill to allow surrogacy should firstly satisfy the best interests and rights of the unborn children involved, secondly serve the best interests, independence, rights and welfare of the prospective surrogate mothers and their families, and thirdly, serve the best interests of the prospective families the children would go to. The Minister of Welfare has appointed the working group to formalise a bill and the work is ongoing when this is written (December 2013).

40. Please provide any other information you consider relevant concerning cases (reported, or otherwise) or other developments which have occurred in your State in relation to the Questions appearing in Part I above.

N/A

Part II: Private international law ("PIL") and co-operation rules concerning birth registration and the establishment, recognition and contestation of legal parentage

A. PIL and co-operation rules concerning birth registration

41. Please explain when the relevant authorities in your State will assume (international) jurisdiction to register the birth of a child:

- a) Only when the child is born on the territory of the State
- b) When at least one of the putative legal parents is a national of the State, regardless of the place of birth of the child
- c) When at least one of the putative genetic parents is a national of the State, regardless of the place of birth of the child
- d) When the child is considered a national of the State,¹⁷ regardless of the place of birth of the child
- e) Other, please specify:

All children born in Iceland are registered in Registers Iceland (the national registry).

A child born abroad, and is considered an Icelandic citizen according to the Icelandic Nationality Act, is registered upon a request from its Icelandic parent/s.

¹⁷ As to which, see Question 38 above.

A child of an unmarried Icelandic father and a foreign mother, born abroad, is registered upon a request from the father, provided that the paternity of the child has been established.

42. When registering a child's birth, which law will the relevant authorities apply to the question of who is / are the legal parent(s) of the child by operation of law?¹⁸

- a) The lex fori (i.e., the internal law of your State) is always applied by the relevant authorities
- b) If the situation has foreign elements (e.g., the putative parent(s) or child are foreign nationals, or the child was born overseas, etc.), foreign law may, or must, be applied to this question. Please specify the applicable law rules:
- c) Other: please specify

43. Have your State authorities ever encountered difficulties resulting from a child's birth being registered in two (or more) States (e.g., the child is registered in your State as the State of birth, and in the State of the parents' nationality and the registers conflict)?

- Yes: please explain the circumstances of the case(s) and the difficulties which arose:

There are no recent conflicts resulting from a child's birth being registered in two or more countries.

In the past there were some difficulties regarding the registration of a child's name in other countries (a child of a foreign parent born in Iceland). The problem was due to rules in the Icelandic Personal Name Act. The legislation was amended and this problem is therefore not relevant today.

- No

44. Are there any bilateral or multilateral¹⁹ agreements in force between your State and any other State such that:

- a. When a child's birth is registered which involves foreign elements (e.g., one or more foreign national parents), this information is communicated to the authorities in the other relevant State?

- Yes: please specify

- There are no formal agreements but this may happen in practice: please explain

It is possible that information concerning a child's birth is communicated between the Nordic Countries (Denmark, Finland, Iceland, Norway and Sweden).

- No

- b. When there are changes to a child's legal parentage subsequent to birth registration as a result of steps taken in your State (e.g., due to a subsequent voluntary acknowledgement of paternity in your State, or a contestation of legal parentage, etc.), this information is communicated to the relevant authorities in the State of the child's birth (where this is not your State)?

¹⁸ Please note that the applicable law rules identified in your response to this Question may be the same as the rules you identify in Question 45 below.

¹⁹ E.g., the Conventions on the international exchange of information relating to civil status of 4 September 1958 and of 12 September 1997 or the Convention on the recognition and updating of civil status booklet, 5 September 1990, all adopted under the aegis of the International Commission on Civil Status (< www.ciec1.org >).

- Yes: please specify
 There are no formal agreements but this may happen in practice: please explain
 No

B. PIL rules concerning the establishment of legal parentage

By operation of law or agreement

45. Does your State have rules specifying which law is applicable to the establishment of legal parentage by operation of law?²⁰

- Yes: please specify
 No: the lex fori (i.e., the internal law of the State) will always be applied where a question of legal parentage arises

46. Does your State have rules specifying which law is applicable to the establishment of legal parentage by agreement?

- Yes: please specify
 No: the lex fori (i.e., the internal law of the State) will always be applied where a question of legal parentage arises
 Not applicable: it is not possible to establish legal parentage by agreement

By voluntary acknowledgement

47. Please explain in which circumstances your State authorities will consider they have (international) jurisdiction to accept a voluntary acknowledgement of legal parentage by a putative parent:

Please tick all which apply:

- a) When the child is (habitually) resident in your State: please specify
b) When the child is a national of your State
c) When the individual acknowledging the child is (habitually) resident in your State: please specify
d) When the individual acknowledging the child is a national of your State
e) Other: please specify

The above (a) - (d) applies if the child is registered in Iceland, the child was born in Iceland or is considered to be an Icelandic citizen.

In other cases, upon a request of the child's parent, The ministry of the Interior may declare that an admission of paternity obtained abroad is of equivalent validity to one obtained in Iceland. (Article 4 (2) of the Children Act).

Please specify whether these criteria (i.e., the (habitual) residence / nationality of the individual(s) – depending upon the boxes ticked above) have to be fulfilled:

- i. At the time of the child's birth
ii. At the time of the acknowledgement, or
iii. At another time: please specify When the Ministry of the Interior has validated the foreign paternity acknowledgement according to Article 4 (2) of the Children Act.

²⁰ Please note that the applicable law rules identified in your response to this Question may be the same as the rules you identified in Question 42 above.

48. Which law will be applied to determine: a) the formal validity of the acknowledgement; and b) the substantive validity of the acknowledgement, i.e., whether it validly establishes legal parentage?

Please tick all which apply:

- a) For the formal validity of the acknowledgement:
- i. The lex fori (i.e., the internal law of your State)
 - ii. The law of the State of the child's nationality
 - iii. The law of the State of the (habitual) residence of the child:
please specify
 - iv. The law of the State of the putative parent's nationality
 - v. The law of the State of the putative parent's (habitual) residence:
please specify
 - vi. Other: please specify
- b) For the substantive validity of the acknowledgement:
- i. The lex fori (i.e., the internal law of your State)
 - ii. The law of the State of the child's nationality
 - iii. The law of the State of the (habitual) residence of the child:
please specify
 - iv. The law of the State of the putative parent's nationality
 - v. The law of the State of the putative parent's (habitual) residence:
please specify
 - vi. Other: please specify

Please state whether, in relation to a) and / or b), one or more of these laws will be applied (possibly in a "cascade"), with a view to favouring the establishment of legal parentage:

Please specify, in relation to a) and b), whether these criteria (i.e., the (habitual) residence / nationality of the individual(s) – depending upon the boxes ticked above) have to be fulfilled: (1) at the time of the child's birth; (2) at the time of the acknowledgement; or (3) at another time (in which case, please specify):

- a)
- b)

C. PIL rules concerning the recognition of legal parentage established abroad

Birth certificates

49. Please explain when, if ever, a birth certificate drawn up in another State will be recognised in your State as validly establishing the legal parentage of those persons recorded within it (i.e., the recognition of the content of the certificate).²¹

Please explain in your answer:

- a) which authorities are responsible for determining whether the foreign birth certificate will be recognised;
- b) the procedure which must be undertaken for recognition;
- c) any conditions for recognition (e.g., the birth certificate must be authenticated by way of legalisation or apostille²²); and
- d) any grounds of non-recognition.

Foreign birth certificates:

²¹ It is understood that, from time to time, this issue may arise in the course of other proceedings (e.g., proceedings concerning succession or maintenance).

²² See, in this regard, the Hague Convention of 5 October 1961 Abolishing the Requirement of Legalisation for Foreign Public Documents, available on the Hague Conference website at < www.hcch.net > under "Apostille Section".

a) Registers Iceland (the National Registry) is responsible for determining whether the foreign birth certificate will be recognized.

b) The birth certificate must be issued by a competent authority in the country where the child was born. A birth-report issued by a hospital or a health practice is not sufficient.

The certificate must state; date of birth, name of the mother and father (if possible) and the name of the child.

The birth certificate must be of a substantive validity (according to internal law) i.e. confirm that the said mother on the certificate is the same woman who gave birth to the child.

c) Registers Iceland can require that foreign documents (incl. foreign birth certificates) delivered for registration are legally confirmed (legalized or authenticated). The authority can also require that a foreign document is translated to Icelandic, English or to another Nordic language.

d) Non-recognition is possible if the requirements in b) and c) above are not fulfilled. Also if it is suspected that the child in question was born with surrogacy arrangement (i.e. the mother stated on the birth certificate is not the same woman who gave birth to the child)

If public policy ("ordre public") is a ground for the non-recognition of a foreign birth certificate, please explain, with reference to case law where applicable, the interpretation of this concept in your State in this context:

Voluntary acknowledgements

50. Please explain when, if ever, a voluntary acknowledgement undertaken in another State will be recognised in your State as validly establishing the legal parentage of the author of the acknowledgement (i.e., the recognition of the content of the acknowledgement).²³

Please explain in your answer:

- a) which authorities are responsible for determining whether the foreign acknowledgement will be recognised;
- b) the procedure which must be undertaken for recognition;
- c) any conditions for recognition; and
- d) any grounds of non-recognition.

Foreign voluntary acknowledgements:

a) The Ministry of the Interior may declare that an admission of paternity obtained abroad is of equivalent validity to one obtained in Iceland. (Article 4 (2) of the Children Act).

b) The validity of the acknowledgement is evaluated in each individual case.

c) The acknowledgement must be in accordance with internal law e.g. Article 4 of the Children Act.

d) Non-recognition is possible if the acknowledgement does not fulfill formal and substantive validity according to the internal law of the State.

²³ It is understood that, from time to time, this issue may arise in the course of other proceedings (e.g., proceedings concerning succession or maintenance).

Non recognition is also possible if the acknowledgement does not fulfill the requirements of Article 4 of the Children Act, is considered to be contrary to internal paternity rules such as the Pater est rule or is considered to be contrary to public policy.

If public policy ("ordre public") is a ground for the non-recognition of a foreign acknowledgment of parentage, please explain, with reference to case law where applicable, the interpretation of this concept in your State in this context:

N/A.

Decisions of judicial authorities

51. Please explain when a decision of the relevant judicial authority of another State establishing a child's legal parentage (i.e., a court judgment or order) will be recognised in your State as validly establishing legal parentage.²⁴

Please explain in your answer:

- a) which authorities are responsible for determining whether the foreign decision will be recognised;
- b) the procedure which must be undertaken for recognition;
- c) any conditions for recognition; and
- d) any grounds of non-recognition.

Foreign judicial decisions:

- a) Registers Iceland is responsible for determining whether the foreign judicial decisions will be recognized.
- b) A decision of non-recognition by Registers Iceland can be appealed to the Ministry of the Interior.
- c) To be recognized as valid the judicial decision must be in accordance with internal law of the State.
- d) Non-recognition is possible if the judicial decision is on the contrary to internal law e.g. if the said mother on the document is not the same woman who gave birth to the child in question.

If public policy ("ordre public") is a ground for the non-recognition of a foreign decision, please explain, with reference to case law where applicable, the interpretation of this concept in your State in this context:

N/A.

52. Please specify the effects of the recognition of the legal parentage established abroad (see Questions 49 to 51 above) and which law(s) govern(s) these effects:

The above answers (questions 49 to 51) are only relevant in paternity cases (not maternity cases).

When the relevant document (birth certificate, voluntary acknowledgement or a judicial decision) has been recognized as valid the putative legal father is considered the legal father of the child for all purposes.

²⁴ Ibid.

D. PIL rules concerning the contestation of legal parentage

53. Please explain when the relevant State authorities (which you identified in Question 31 above) have (international) jurisdiction to determine a dispute concerning a child's legal parentage:

- a) When the child whose parentage is disputed is (habitually) resident in your State: please specify
- b) When the child whose parentage is disputed is a national of your State
- c) When a putative parent disputing legal parentage is (habitually) resident in your State: please specify
- d) When a putative parent disputing legal parentage is a national of your State
- e) Other: please specify

According to Article 8 (1) (b) of the Children Act, a court action to determine a child's paternity may also be brought in Iceland if the estate at death of the defendant is being settled, or has been settled, in Iceland.

Cases to determine a child's paternity shall be resolved according to Article 8 of the Children Act. The provisions of international agreements to which Iceland is a party shall however take precedence over the first and second paragraphs of the article.

Please specify whether these criteria (i.e., the (habitual) residence / nationality of the individual(s) – depending upon the boxes ticked above) have to be fulfilled:

- i. At the time of the child's birth
- ii. At the time the relevant State authorities are seized with the dispute, or
- iii. At another time: please specify

54. In the context of a contestation of legal parentage, which law will the authorities apply to the question of who is / are the legal parent(s) of a child?

Please tick all which apply:

- a) The lex fori (i.e., the internal law of your State)
- b) The law of the State of the child's nationality
- c) The law of the State of the (habitual) residence of the child:
please specify
- d) The law of the State of the putative parent's nationality
- e) The law of the State of the putative parent's (habitual) residence:
please specify
- f) Other: please specify

Please state whether one or more of these laws will be applied (possibly in a "cascade"), with a view to favouring the establishment of legal parentage:

E. "Cross-border reproductive care"²⁵ and the consequences for legal parentage

55. If persons resident in your State access ART services in another State, are there any specific PIL rules concerning the establishment of the legal parentage of the child born as a result (e.g., the law of the State in which the ART service was obtained will apply to the question of the child's legal parentage)?

- Yes: please explain
- No

²⁵ In this paper, "cross-border reproductive care" is taken to mean when person(s) who wish to access ART services cross a border to do so, for whatever reason (often it is linked with the restrictive rules in their "home" jurisdiction, lower costs or better success rates abroad).

Other: please explain

56. Are you aware of any cases, other than international surrogacy cases (see Part III below), where difficulties concerning the establishment or recognition of a child's legal parentage have arisen as a result of individuals resident in your State accessing ART services in another country, or individuals resident abroad accessing ART services in your State?

Yes: please provide details

Article 6 (2) of the Children Act, on the establishment of legal parentage of a child of two women conceived with ART, is only applicable in Iceland. If the ART is performed in another country the other woman must adopt the child in order to be considered it's legal parent.

No

F. Legal developments and practical challenges

57. Please state whether the law in your State concerning the matters covered in Part II above (i.e., the PIL and co-operation rules concerning birth registration and the establishment, recognition and contestation of legal parentage) has changed in the past five years, or whether any initiatives are underway (e.g., in government, before Parliament or before the courts) to change the law in future:

There have been no recent changes to the law concerning the matters covered in Part II and no changes decided upon at this moment.

58. Other than cases involving international surrogacy arrangements (as to which see Part III below), are there any other cases of which you are aware where difficulties have arisen in your State in relation to establishing, contesting, or recognising a child's legal parentage as a result of the cross-border movement of the child and / or his / her putative parents?

(Some possible examples can be found at Part IV (b) of Prel. Doc. No 11 of March 2011.)

Please provide as much detail as possible concerning the situation which arose and the difficulties encountered: We are not aware any such cases.

Part III: The particular challenges concerning International Surrogacy Arrangements²⁶ ("ISAs")

This Part asks for information regarding the experience of State authorities with ISAs. It is divided into two sections:²⁷

²⁶ See the Glossary for the definition of the terms used in this paper.

²⁷ Please note: it is understood that, in relation to both "Incoming" and "Outgoing" cases, there may be more than two States involved in a particular case: e.g., the surrogate may be resident in a different State to the State in which she travelled (or, in some cases, was trafficked) to give birth; in other cases, a gamete donor may be resident in a third State etc. Please explain any such elements in your responses to the questions in this part.

- Section A asks a number of questions concerning "Incoming cases" of ISA: i.e., those cases in which your State was the State of residence of the intending parents, and the State to which it was sought to bring child(ren), born to a surrogate abroad, to live.
- Section B continues with questions concerning "Outgoing cases" of ISA: i.e., those cases where your State was the State in which the surrogate mother gave birth and from which the child(ren) needed to leave to travel to the State of residence of the intending parents in order to live with them in that State.

A. Incoming cases²⁸

- This Section is inapplicable – there have been no "Incoming cases" of ISA in this State. Go to Section B.

Basic empirical data

59. Do you have any information concerning:

- a) The number of Incoming cases of ISA which have required the assistance of your State authorities in recent years?

- Yes – please provide any figures available:

Pre-2009

2010

2011

2012

2013 (so far)

- No information is available

- b) How many children have been born to surrogate mothers in another State as a result of ISAs involving intending parents resident in your State?

- Yes – please provide any figures available:

Pre-2009

2010

2011

2012

2013 (so far)

- No information is available

If you have provided any figures above, please comment upon whether you consider that these figures reflect the true number of Incoming cases of ISA involving your State²⁹ and, further, please provide a general comment concerning the prevalence of Incoming cases of ISAs and whether such cases have increased in the past five years:

²⁸ I.e., those cases where your State was the State of residence of the intending parent(s), and the State to which it was sought to bring the child(ren), born to a surrogate abroad, to live.

²⁹ Since it is recognised that there may be many cases which do not come to the attention of the State authorities.

If you have not provided figures above, are you able to provide any comment concerning the prevalence of Incoming cases of ISAs involving your State and / or whether this has increased in the past five years:

There have been very few cases involving ISA in Iceland. We are aware of 10 cases mostly. Therefore no empirical data is available on the subject and not possible to say if there has been increase in the past years.

60. Please list all the States in which intending parents resident in your State have engaged a surrogate mother (i.e., entered into an ISA), insofar as you are aware:

We are aware of cases from USA and India.

The procedure for Incoming cases of ISA

61. Please explain the procedure, including any immigration and legal processes, which intending parents resident in your State need to undertake (before leaving your State, before returning to your State or upon return to your State, as applicable) in order to:

- a) Enter your State with a child born abroad as a result of an ISA:

There is no special procedure. Each case is evaluated and processed by the relevant authority.

- b) Reside permanently in your State with the child:

There is no special procedure. Each case is evaluated and processed by the relevant authority.

- c) Have their legal parentage recognised (or established) under the law of your State (if this is possible):

There is no special procedure. Each case is evaluated and processed by the relevant authority.

Please include an estimate of the time it may take to complete each stage of this process:

- a) It is not possible to estimate the time. The timeframe would always depend upon the situation in question.

- b) Same answer as in a)

- c) Same answer as in a)

If the answer to this question varies depending upon the factors set out below, please provide a brief explanation, including the impact the particular factor has on the procedure which must be undertaken and any timeframes.

Please tick all which apply:

- i. The country in which the child was born: please explain
- ii. The particular document(s) produced by the intending parents to establish their legal parentage (e.g., a birth certificate, voluntary acknowledgement, court decision, etc.): please explain
- iii. Whether the child(ren) is / are genetically related to one or both of the intending parents: please explain
- iv. The nationality of the intending parents: please explain
- v. Any other factor: please explain

62. Have your State authorities engaged in cross-border administrative or judicial co-operation with the authorities in any other State in order to resolve an ISA case?

- Yes – please specify:
 - a) Which authorities in each State were involved: The Ministry for Foreign Affairs has involved the relevant Icelandic Embassy.
 - b) The nature of the co-operation: The co-operation was regarding clarification on existing legislation in the state.
 - c) Whether the co-operation resulted from legislation, guidelines or practice: The co-operation was based on diplomatic relations.
 - d) The result: It was not successful.
- No

63. In your experience, which documents are generally produced to your State authorities to substantiate the claim of the intending parents to an ISA to legal parentage?

Please tick all which apply:

- a) A birth certificate from the State of birth, including the name(s) of the intending parents: please state from which countries these birth certificates originate and any other details necessary: From USA.
- b) An amended birth certificate from the State of birth, including the name(s) of the intending parents: please state from which countries these amended certificates originate and any other details necessary:
- c) A pre-birth court order from the State of birth: please state from which countries these orders originate and any other detail necessary: From USA.
- d) A post-birth court order from the State of birth (i.e., transfer of parentage): please state from which countries these orders originate and any other details necessary: From USA.
- e) An adoption order from the State of birth: please state from which countries these orders originate and any other details necessary, including whether use of the 1993 Convention³⁰ was attempted by either State³¹:
- f) Other: please specify

If possible, please state (using the relevant letter) which of the above documents your authorities are presented with most frequently in these cases:

It's not possible to say which documents are most frequent since there have been very few cases.

64. In general, what is the outcome of these cases in your State for the child:

Please tick all which apply and provide as much detail as possible:

³⁰ Full title: the Hague Convention of 29 May 1993 on Protection of Children and Co-operation in Respect of Intercountry Adoption (hereinafter, "1993 Convention"). For further information, please see < www.hcch.net >, under "Intercountry Adoption Section".

³¹ See the Conclusions and Recommendations of the Special Commission meeting on the practical operation of the 1993 Convention (17-25 June 2010), which concluded that use of the 1993 Convention in cases of international surrogacy arrangements was "inappropriate", paras 25-26.

- a) The child is able to travel to your State and reside there with the intending parents and the intending parents are recognised as the legal parents of the child.

Please explain how this is achieved:

- b) The child is able to travel to your State and reside there with the intending parents but one or both of the intending parents is not able to be recognised as the child's legal parents: please explain
- c) The child is not able to travel to your State and has to remain in the State of his / her birth: please explain why and what has happened to the children in such cases
- d) Other: please explain

It is not possible to say what the general outcome would be since there have been very few cases involving ISA (10 at most). As an example we can mention that the result has been that both putative parents adopted the child in question.

If possible, please state which of the four outcomes above occurs most frequently in your State:

It is not possible to say.

The challenges encountered

65. In general, which of your State authorities are involved in assisting those who encounter difficulties as a result of Incoming cases of ISA?

Please tick all which apply and provide information concerning their particular role:

- a) The embassies / consulates in the State of the child's birth
- b) The immigration authorities
- c) The judicial authorities (i.e., the courts): please specify which
- d) The Ministry of Justice (or equivalent)
- e) The Ministry of Foreign Affairs (or equivalent)
- f) The Ministry of Health (or equivalent)
- g) The Ministry of Social Affairs (or equivalent)
- h) Other: please explain Registers Iceland.

66. Please explain any legal problems your State has encountered in relation to Incoming cases of ISA.

Please tick all boxes which apply and provide explanations, including the other country(ies) involved in the ISA. Where reported cases are referred to please provide the full text of the judgment, including a translation into English or French where possible.

Problems relating to:

- a) The child being able to leave his / her State of birth: There have been problems regarding issuing a passport for the child.
- b) The child being able to enter your State:
- c) The child being able to reside in your State:
- d) The child's nationality:
- e) The child's legal parentage: A surrogate mother is not considered the legal mother according to Icelandic laws.
- f) The behaviour of any party(ies) which is criminal according to international legal standards or according to the domestic rules of the countries involved (e.g., trafficking, sale of children, exploitation of women, etc.):
- g) The treatment of the surrogate mother in any State (e.g., whether her consent was free and informed, concerning the financial payments made to her, the medical care provided, etc.): please specify

- h) The breakdown of the ISA: e.g., due to either of the parties reneging on the agreement, for example, due to the child's disability or ill health, the wish of the surrogate mother to keep the child, the relationship breakdown of the intending parents or the clinic using the wrong gametes or another reason, etc.: please explain
- i) Other: please explain

Please provide any further information you consider relevant concerning the above problems:

67. Using the categories set out below, please provide any available information concerning the costs intending parents resident in your State have paid for an ISA. If, in your experience, costs have varied significantly depending upon the country in which the surrogate mother resided or gave birth, please specify per country.

Please tick all which apply and provide any known figures and a description of to whom the money was paid and for what service:

- a) Medical costs:
 b) Legal costs:
 c) Fees or other costs paid to an intermediary: e.g., a surrogacy agency:
 d) Expenses and / or other costs paid to the surrogate mother:
 e) Other: please explain There is no information regarding the cost.

Areas of concern

68. Do any of the following areas give your State authorities cause for concern in these cases?

In each case, where possible, please specify your particular concerns in the field provided:

- a) The uncertainty of the legal status of children born to ISAs, in particular in terms of their legal parentage:
 b) The nationality of children born to ISAs:
 c) The right of children born to ISAs to know their (genetic and birth) origins:
 d) The surrogate mother's free and informed consent to the surrogacy arrangement:
 e) The psychological impact of an ISA on the surrogate mother:
 f) The medical or other care provided to the surrogate mother:
 g) The financial aspects of ISAs:
 h) The competency and / or conduct of the intermediaries involved (lawyers, agencies, etc.):
 i) The (mis)-information provided to intending parents or surrogate mothers:
 j) The eligibility and / or suitability of the intending parents to care for the child (e.g., in terms of age, criminal records, psycho-social suitability, etc.):
 k) Contractual matters: e.g., issues surrounding the enforceability of the surrogacy agreement or the capacity of any of the parties to enter into the agreement:
 l) Other:

Please state (using the letters above) which of the concerns you have identified above are the most troubling: a), b) and c).

Legal developments

69. Does your State have any legislation, rules or guidance which has been specifically enacted or drawn up for intending parents resident in your State engaging in ISAs?

- Yes: please explain
 No

If your State is contemplating any such legislation, rules or guidance in future, please provide further information:

The Ministry of Welfare has established a working group that is currently preparing a parliamentary bill regarding surrogacy arrangements. See answer to question 39 above.

70. Please provide any other information you consider relevant concerning your State's experience of Incoming cases of ISA:

B. Outgoing cases³²

This Section is inapplicable – there have been no “Outgoing cases” of ISA in this State. Go to Part IV.

Basic empirical data

71. Do you have any information concerning:

a) The number of Outgoing cases of ISA which have required the assistance of your State authorities in recent years?

- Yes – please provide any figures available:
 Pre-2009
 2009
 2010
 2011
 2012
 2013 (so far)

No information is available

b) How many children have been born to surrogate mothers in your State as a result of ISAs involving intending parents resident in another State?

- Yes – please provide any figures available:
 Pre-2009
 2009
 2010
 2011
 2012
 2013 (so far)

No information is available

If you have provided any figures above, please comment upon whether you consider that these figures reflect the true number of Outgoing cases of ISA involving your State³³ and, further, please provide a general comment concerning the prevalence of Outgoing cases of ISAs and whether such cases have increased in the past five years:

³² I.e., those cases where your State is the State in which the surrogate mother gives birth and from which the child has to leave to travel to the place of residence of his / her intending parents.

³³ Since it is recognised that there may be many cases which do not come to the attention of the State authorities.

If you have not provided figures above, are you able to provide any comment concerning the prevalence of Outgoing Cases of ISAs involving your State and / or whether this has increased in the past five years?

72. Please list any States in which intending parents, engaging a surrogate mother in your State by way of ISA, have been resident:

The procedure for Outgoing cases of ISA

73. In general, which of your State authorities are involved in assisting those who undertake an ISA with a surrogate mother in your State?

Please tick all which apply and provide information concerning their particular role:

- a) The immigration authorities: please specify
- b) The judicial authorities (i.e., the courts): please specify which
- c) The Ministry of Justice (or equivalent)
- d) The Ministry of Foreign Affairs (or equivalent)
- e) The Ministry of Health (or equivalent)
- f) The Ministry of Social Affairs (or equivalent)
- g) Other: please explain

74. Do foreign-resident intending parents require a visa or any other immigration document(s), or do they have to meet any other conditions, to enter your State to be able to undertake the necessary meetings and medical procedures to enter into an ISA in your State?

Please tick all which apply:

- Yes, they have to meet the following conditions – please specify:
- Yes, they have to obtain a visa or other immigration document(s) – please specify what type of document is required, the conditions for obtaining it and the procedure:
- No
- It depends upon the State of residence or nationality of the intending parents: please specify

75. Is the law of the State of the habitual residence of the intending parents taken into account in any way when considering whether intending parents are permitted to undertake an ISA in your State (e.g., where this law forbids surrogacy arrangements).³⁴

- Yes – please explain how this law is taken into account:
- No
- It depends upon the State of residence or nationality of the intending parents: please explain

76. How do foreign-resident intending parents, who are party to an ISA, obtain legal parentage for a child born to a surrogacy arrangement in your State?

³⁴ E.g., see clause 34(19) of the Indian Assisted Reproductive Technologies (Regulation) Bill 2010 still pending, explained in Prel. Doc. No 10 of March 2012 (note 1) at para. 45. In addition, the recent Indian visa requirements now impose on foreign nationals visiting India to undertake a surrogacy arrangement, a condition to similar effect: i.e., that the intending parents must have a letter from the embassy of their State of residence indicating that the State recognises surrogacy and that the child born will be permitted to enter this State. See also the Ukrainian Draft Law No 0989 (former No 8282) on the restrictions pertaining to the use of assisted reproductive technology (rejected by the Parliament of Ukraine on 21 March 2013). This bill also envisaged, in particular, restrictions on the use of surrogacy arrangements for nationals of those States where surrogacy is prohibited by law.

Your response to this question will likely depend upon your answer to Questions 26 to 27 above.

Please tick all which apply:

- a) They will be the legal parents by operation of law and therefore their names will be placed immediately on the child's birth certificate: please explain
- b) They can obtain an amended birth certificate: please explain
- c) They can obtain a pre-birth court order confirming their legal parentage: please explain any conditions for obtaining such an order
- d) They can obtain a post-birth court order (i.e., a transfer of parentage): please explain any conditions for obtaining such an order
- e) They can adopt the child: please explain, including whether use of the 1993 Convention has been attempted in this regard³⁵
- f) Other: please specify

Please explain the procedure for any of the options ticked above and any specific requirements which apply to foreign-resident intending parents:

Please further specify whether the surrogate mother's consent, and her husband or partner's consent where applicable, is required for any of these procedures and the consequences if this consent is not forthcoming at the relevant time:

77. Please explain the procedure, including any immigration and legal processes, which foreign-resident intending parents need to undertake in order to leave your State with a child born to a surrogacy arrangement:

Please state the time it may take to complete this process:

If the answer to this question varies depending upon the factors set out below, please provide a brief explanation, including the impact the particular factor has on the procedure which must be undertaken and any timeframes.

Please tick all which apply:

- a) The country in which the intending parents live: please explain
- b) The particular document(s) produced by the intending parents to establish legal parentage (e.g., a birth certificate, voluntary acknowledgement, court decision, etc.): please explain
- c) Whether the child(ren) is / are genetically related to one or both of the intending parents: please explain
- d) The nationality of the intending parents: please explain
- e) Any other factor: please explain

78. Have your State authorities engaged in cross-border administrative or judicial co-operation with authorities in any other State in order to resolve an ISA case?

- Yes – please specify:
 - a) Which authorities in each State were involved:
 - b) The nature of the co-operation:
 - c) Whether the co-operation resulted from legislation, guidelines or practice:
 - d) The result:
- No

³⁵ See note 31 above concerning the 2010 Special Commission meeting on the practical operation of the 1993 Convention which concluded that use of the 1993 Convention in cases of international surrogacy arrangements was "inappropriate".

79. In general, what is the outcome of these cases in your State for the child?

Please tick all which apply:

- a) The child is able to leave your State, travel to the State of residence of the intending parents, reside there with the intending parents and the intending parents are recognised as the legal parent(s) of the child.
Please explain how this is achieved:
- b) The child is able to leave your State, travel to the State of residence of the intending parents, reside there with the intending parents but one or both of the intending parents are not able to be recognised as the child's legal parents: please explain
- c) The child is able to leave your State but is not able to travel to the State of residence of the intending parents and has to remain in your State: please explain what has happened to the children in such cases
- d) The child is not able to leave your State: please explain why and what has happened to the children in such cases
- e) Other: please explain

If possible, please state which of the five outcomes above occurs most frequently in your State:

The challenges encountered

80. Please explain any legal problems your State has encountered in relation to Outgoing cases of ISA.

Please tick all boxes which apply and provide explanations, including the other country(ies) involved. Where reported cases are referred to please provide the full text of the judgment, including a translation into English or French where possible.

Problems relating to:

- a) The child being able to leave your State:
- b) The child being able to enter the State in which his / her intending parents are resident:

- i) Other: please explain

Please provide any further information you consider relevant concerning these legal problems:

81. Using the categories set out below, please provide any information you have concerning the costs intending parents resident abroad have paid for an ISA in your State. If, in your experience, costs have varied significantly depending upon the country in which the intending parents resided, please specify per country.

Please tick all which apply and provide any known figures and a description of to whom the money was paid and for what service:

- a) Medical costs:
- b) Legal costs:
- c) Fees or other costs paid to an intermediary: e.g., a surrogacy agency:

- l) Other:

Please state (using the letters above) which of the concerns you have identified above are the most troubling:

Legal developments

83. Does your State have any legislation, rules or guidance which has been specifically enacted or drawn up for intending parents or surrogate mothers engaging in ISAs in your State?

- Yes: please explain
- No

If your State is contemplating any such legislation, rules or guidance in future, please provide further information:

84. Please provide any other information you consider relevant concerning your State's experience of Outgoing cases of ISA:

Part IV: Current bilateral or multilateral instruments in the field

85. Please list any bilateral, regional or multilateral instruments which currently, or may in future, bind your State concerning:

- a) Any matters related to the establishment, recognition or contestation of the legal parentage of children;

There is no current bilateral or multilateral instruments binding Iceland in this field. The Children Act No. 76/2003 is the only regional legislation concerning these matters.

- b) Any matters specifically related to surrogacy arrangements;

There is no current bilateral or multilateral instruments in this field.

Please provide any detail you consider necessary:

Part V: Thoughts on possible future work

86. What, if any, are the needs you consider ought to be addressed by any possible future global work in this area?

Please specify: We are not able to comment on this at this moment.

87. Please provide your thoughts concerning the approach that should be taken in relation to any possible future regulation of any of the matters mentioned in this Questionnaire.

In this response, you may wish to consider and comment upon the thoughts set out in Section VIII of Preliminary Document No 11 of March 2011 and Section IV of Preliminary Document No 10 of March 2012.

You may also wish to comment upon the nature of any possible future regulation: e.g., whether a binding instrument should be considered or whether approaches such as a model law, non-binding principles or guidance, etc. would meet the needs you identified in Question 86 above.

88. If the Hague Conference were to develop a global instrument on the private international law issues surrounding the status of children (in particular, the cross-border recognition of legal parentage), which of the following general features may be desirable to include in such an instrument?

Please tick all which apply (and please note that these features are not mutually exclusive and necessarily overlap):

The child's legal status

- a) Harmonisation of the private international law rules relating to the establishment, recognition and contestation of legal parentage: please comment
- b) Recognition by operation of law of child(ren)'s legal parentage established in one State Party, in compliance with the instrument's rules, in all other States Parties: please comment

Safeguards

- c) The establishment of safeguards (minimum standards) to ensure that any procedures for the establishment, recognition and contestation of legal parentage take place with respect for the fundamental rights and welfare of all parties involved, in particular the child(ren) concerned: please comment

Co-operation

- d) The establishment of a system for co-ordination, communication and co-operation between States in relation to the establishment, recognition and contestation of legal parentage. Such a system may include a clear division of responsibilities between States, as well as the establishment of defined channels for communication between the relevant authorities.

Please comment, including in relation to whether you see a need for the establishment of "central authorities" within such a system:

Other

- e) Other: please specify

89. If the Hague Conference were to develop a global instrument specifically on international surrogacy arrangements,³⁶ which of the following general features may be desirable to include in such an instrument?

Please tick all which apply (and please note that these features are not mutually exclusive and necessarily overlap):

The child's legal status

- a) Harmonisation of the private international law rules relating to the establishment, recognition and contestation of legal parentage, limited to legal parentage arising following a surrogacy arrangement: please comment
- b) Recognition by operation of law of child(ren)'s legal parentage established in one State Party following a surrogacy arrangement, in compliance with the instrument's rules, in all other States Parties: please comment
- c) Provisions concerning the child(ren)'s nationality: please comment

Safeguards

- d) The establishment of safeguards (minimum standards) to ensure that such arrangements take place with respect for the fundamental rights and welfare of all parties involved, i.e., the child(ren) to be born, the surrogate mother and intending parents: please comment, including in relation to which elements you consider there ought to be such minimum standards (e.g., the surrogate mother's free and informed consent, the child's right to know his / her origins, etc.)
- e) Safeguards (minimum standards) specifically in relation to the intermediaries involved in such arrangements (e.g., surrogacy agencies, lawyers, etc.). These standards may be combined with a system of licensing and supervision to ensure compliance: please comment
- f) Safeguards (minimum standards) specifically in relation to medical institutions undertaking the procedures connected with international surrogacy arrangements: please comment

Co-operation

³⁶ See Part III of the Questionnaire above.

- g) The establishment of a system for co-ordination, communication and co-operation between States in relation to such arrangements. This may include a clear division of responsibilities between States, for example, such that: (a) the competent authorities of the State of the habitual residence of the intending parents would be responsible for determining that the intending parents are eligible to enter into the arrangement, and that any child born as a result will be permitted to enter and reside in their State;³⁷ and (b) the competent authorities of the State in which the surrogate mother habitually resides would be responsible for determining that the surrogate mother is eligible and suitable to enter into the arrangement and that the child will be entitled to leave this State following his / her birth. The co-operation system could also include the creation of defined procedures which must be complied with by the parties to such arrangements.

Please comment, including in relation to whether you see a need for the establishment of "central authorities" within such a system:

Other

- h) Provisions concerning the financial aspects of international surrogacy arrangements: please comment
- i) Other: please specify
90. What priority would you give working towards a future instrument on the private international law issues concerning the status of children (in particular, the cross-border recognition of legal parentage) generally?
- a) High priority / urgent
- b) Medium priority – desirable but not urgent
- c) Low priority – possibly desirable but other projects should take priority
- d) No priority – no further work should be done in this field
- e) Other: please specify
91. What priority would you give working towards a future instrument specifically on the challenges occurring as a result of international surrogacy arrangements?
- a) High priority / urgent
- b) Medium priority – desirable but not urgent
- c) Low priority – possibly desirable but other projects should take priority
- d) No priority – no further work should be done in this field
- f) Other: please specify
92. Please provide any other comment(s) you may have concerning the possible future global regulation of matters contained within this Questionnaire:

Thank you for your time: this information will greatly assist the work of the Permanent Bureau.

³⁷ Following the trend in some States in which international surrogacy arrangements are regularly entered into to take into account the legal position in the State of the habitual residence of the intending parent(s) before permitting the surrogacy arrangement to proceed: see note 34 above.
