INTRODUCTION

This Questionnaire is addressed to Members of the Hague Conference and other interested States in fulfilment of the mandate provided by the Council on General Affairs and Policy of the Conference ("the Council") in April 2012, following consideration of Preliminary Document No 10 of March 2012.<sup>1</sup> The Council requested that the Permanent Bureau "continue the current work under the 2011 Council mandate and further prepare and distribute a Questionnaire in order to obtain more detailed information regarding the extent and nature of the private international law issues being encountered in relation to international surrogacy arrangements, as well as in relation to legal parentage or "filiation" more broadly. The Questionnaire shall seek views on the needs to be addressed and approaches to be taken. The Permanent Bureau is invited to present its final Report to the Council in 2014".<sup>2</sup>

A detailed chronology of the background to this project is available on the website of the Hague Conference < www.hcch.net >, under "The Parentage / Surrogacy Project", then "Chronology of the Project (including relevant documentation)".

This Questionnaire has five parts:

- Part I contains questions on the internal law concerning the establishment and contestation of legal parentage in Member and interested States;
- Part II looks to the private international law ("PIL") and co-operation rules concerning birth registration and the establishment, recognition and contestation of legal parentage;
- Part III addresses the particular challenges concerning International Surrogacy Arrangements<sup>3</sup> ("ISAs");
- Part IV considers the current bilateral or multilateral instruments in the field; and
- Part V asks for thoughts on possible future work in this area.

Please note that the Permanent Bureau has used the same terminology in this Questionnaire as that which was used in the Glossary annexed to Preliminary Document No 10 of March 2012. This Glossary is accessible on the webpage of the project, "The Parentage / Surrogacy Project", then "Chronology of the Project (including relevant documentation)" and then "2011 – 2013".

The Permanent Bureau invites responses to the Questionnaire (in either English or French) by no later than 1 August 2013 in order to allow the Permanent Bureau sufficient time to consider the responses and to prepare the final Report requested by Members for the Council of 2014. Answers should be sent by e-mail to < secretariat@hcch.net > with the following heading and indication in the subject field: "Questionnaire – Parentage / Surrogacy – [name of Member, State or territorial unit, where applicable]".

It is acknowledged that this is a detailed Questionnaire and that, due to the legal position in some States, it may not be possible for Members and interested States to respond to all of the questions. The Permanent Bureau is extremely grateful for any information which may be provided. It is also hoped that the detailed information in the responses to this Questionnaire may be of use to Members beyond this project: for example, where consideration is being given, now or in the future, to domestic legislation in any of the areas considered below.

Part I: Internal law concerning the establishment and contestation of legal parentage

A. Birth registration

1. Please indicate which authorities in your State are responsible for registering the birth of a child:

National Statistics Office (NSO)
Office of the Civil Registrar General

2. Please briefly describe the procedure for birth registration in your State, indicating whether such registration is mandatory<sup>4</sup> and providing details concerning any specific rules which must be complied with (e.g., within what timeframe must a birth be registered, who can register a birth and where must the birth be registered):

Commonwealth Act No. 3753, Section 5. Registration and Certification of Birth. – The declaration of the physician or midwife in attendance at the birth or, in default thereof, the declaration of either parent of the newborn child, shall be sufficient for the registration of a birth in the civil register. Sent to the local civil registrar not later than thirty days after the birth, by the physician, or midwife in attendance at the birth or by either parent of the newly born child.

In such declaration, the persons above mentioned shall certify to the following facts: (a) date and hour of birth; (b) sex and nationality of infant; (c) names, citizenship, and religion of parents or, in case the father is not known, of the mother alone; (d) civil status of parents; (e) place where the infant was born; (f) and such other data may be required in the regulation to be issued.

In the case of a foundling child, the person who found the same shall report to the local civil registrar the place, date and hour of finding and other attendant circumstances.

In case of an illegitimate child, the birth certificate shall be signed and sworn to jointly by the parents of the infant or only the mother if the father refuses. In the latter case, it shall not be permissible to state or reveal in the document the name of the father who refuses to acknowledge the child, or to give therein any information by which such father could be identified.

Any fetus having human features which dies after twenty four hours of existence completely disengaged from the maternal womb shall be entered in the proper registers as having been born and having died.

Children born after one hundred and eighty days following the celebration of the marriage, and before three hundred days following its dissolution or the separation of the spouses shall be presumed to be legitimate. (Art. 225, Civil of the Philippines).
Children conceived or born during the marriage of the parents are legitimate.

<sup>4</sup> See Art. 7 of the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child ("UNCRC"), 20 November 1989, which states that, "The child shall be registered immediately after birth and shall have the right from birth to a name, the right to acquire a nationality and, as far as possible, the right to know and be cared for by his or her parents."

Children conceived as a result of artificial insemination of the wife with the sperm of the husband or that of a donor are likewise legitimate children of the husband and his wife, provided that both of them authorized or ratified such insemination in a written instrument executed and signed by them before the birth of the child. The instrument shall be recorded in the civil registry together with the birth certificate of the child. (Art. 164, Family Code of the Philippines).

3. Please explain what proof (evidence), if any, of legal maternity is required by the authorities in your State in order to register a putative<sup>5</sup> legal mother:

Please tick all which apply:

- a) ☒ Hospital birth record (stating the name of the woman who gave birth to the child)
- b) ☒ Sworn statement by the putative legal mother stating that she gave birth to the child
- c) ☐ Signed statement by the putative legal mother stating that she gave birth to the child
- d) ☐ DNA test to prove a genetic link between the putative legal mother and child
- e) ☒ Other: please explain In addition, a document signed by two disinterested persons with personal knowledge of the birth.

4. Please explain what proof (evidence), if any, of legal paternity is required by the authorities in your State in order to register a putative legal father:

Please tick all which apply:

- a) ☒ Formal acknowledgement<sup>6</sup> by the putative legal father
- b) ☐ Formal acknowledgement by the putative legal father, with the legal mother and / or the child's evidenced consent: please specify
- c) ☒ Judicial decision (court order) establishing or confirming legal paternity
- d) ☒ Sworn statement by the putative legal father stating that he is the genetic father
- e) ☒ Signed statement by the putative legal father stating that he is the genetic father
- f) ☐ Signed agreement between the legal mother and putative legal father
- g) ☐ DNA test to prove a genetic link between the putative legal father and child
- h) ☐ Other: please explain

5. What are the legal consequences in the internal law of your State of registering persons in the State records<sup>7</sup> as the parents of a child?

- a) ☒ Those persons are the legal parents of the child for all purposes, unless and until the record is contested, and all the legal consequences which flow from legal parentage in your State will automatically follow (e.g., duty to provide maintenance, inheritance rules, naming rules, etc.):
- b) ☐ Other: please explain

6. Are there any penalties for failing to comply with the rules concerning birth registration in your State: for example, misrepresenting to the authorities who are / is the legal parent(s) of the child?

<sup>5</sup> "Putative" means "generally considered or reputed to be" and, in this document, is taken to mean the woman or man claiming or claimed (where it is not the individual him or herself making the assertion) to be the legal mother or father, respectively, of the child.

<sup>6</sup> In some States, this is called a "recognition" of paternity: the term "acknowledgement" is used in this document to avoid confusion with the private international law concept of "recognition". See further Questions 11 et seq. below.

<sup>7</sup> It is acknowledged that there are different methods of recording births (and therefore legal parentage) across States, as well as different rules concerning matters such as when birth certificates will be issued, what information should be contained within the certificate and their constitutive value. Where applicable, please provide information concerning the rules in your State.

7. Is it possible to give birth anonymously in your State?

- ☐ Yes
☒ No

If so, please explain any rules which apply to such an anonymous birth and state what will appear on the child's birth record and / or birth certificate:<sup>8</sup>

Foundling children or abandoned children are issued "Foundling Certificates" in lieu of birth certificates if there is no information or data available on the child.

B. Establishment of legal parentage

8. Who, upon the birth of a child, is the legal mother by operation of law in your State (i.e., with no need for the woman to take any steps to establish her legal maternity)?

<sup>8</sup> In this document, the "birth record" is taken to mean the information concerning the child's birth (including legal parentage) which is stored in the records of the relevant State authority (usually a registry). In contrast, the "birth certificate" is taken to mean the extract from this birth record which is usually given to the legal parent(s) to keep. In some States it may be that the information contained within the birth record is comprehensive (e.g., if the child has been adopted, the birth record will identify the birth parent(s)), whereas the birth certificate may provide only a limited part of this information. See also ibid.

- a) ☒ The woman who gives birth to the child
- b) ☐ The genetic mother (i.e., the woman whose gamete (egg) created the child)
- c) ☐ There is no legal mother by operation of law: please explain
- d) ☒ Other: please explain Children conceived as a result of artificial insemination of the wife with the sperm of the husband or that of a donor are likewise legitimate children of the husband and his wife, provided that both of them authorized or ratified such insemination in a written instrument executed and signed by them before the birth of the child. The instrument shall be recorded in the civil registry together with the birth certificate of the child. (Art. 164, Family Code of the Philippines).

9. Who, upon the birth of a child, is the legal father by operation of law in your State (i.e., with no need for the man to take any steps to establish his legal paternity)?

- a) ☒ The husband of the woman who gave birth is presumed to be the legal father
- b) ☐ The male partner of the woman who gave birth is presumed to be the legal father – please provide any conditions (e.g., the couple must be cohabiting, etc.)
- c) ☐ The genetic father (i.e., the man whose gamete (sperm) created the child)
- d) ☐ There is no legal father by operation of law: please explain
- e) ☒ Other: please explain Children conceived as a result of artificial insemination of the wife with the sperm of the husband or that of a donor are likewise legitimate children of the husband and his wife, provided that both of them authorized or ratified such insemination in a written instrument executed and signed by them before the birth of the child. The instrument shall be recorded in the civil registry together with the birth certificate of the child. (Art. 164, Family Code of the Philippines).

If legal presumptions operate in your State, please specify in what circumstances, if any, it is possible to “rebut” these presumptions:

Legitimacy of a child may be impugned only on the following grounds:

[1] That it was physically impossible for the husband to have sexual intercourse with his wife within the first 120 days of the 300 days which immediately preceded the birth of the child because of:

[a] the physical incapacity of the husband to have sexual intercourse with his wife;

[b] the fact that the husband and wife were living separately in such a way that sexual intercourse was not possible; or

[c] serious illness of the husband, which absolutely prevented sexual intercourse;

[2] That it is proved that for biological or other scientific reasons, the child could not have been that of the husband, except in the instance provided in the second paragraph of Article 164; or

[3] That in case of children conceived through artificial insemination, the written authorization or ratification of either parent was obtained through mistake, fraud, violence, intimidation, or undue influence.

10.a) Is it possible in your State for a non-contentious (i.e., unchallenged) application to be made to the relevant State authorities for a decision (sometimes called a “declaration”) establishing or confirming the legal parentage of a child?

- ☒ Yes – go to Question 10 b).
- ☐ No – go to Question 11.

b) Please explain to which State authorities such an application should be made:

- i. ☒ The authority responsible for birth registration (see Question 1 above)
- ii. ☐ The judicial authorities (i.e., the courts): please specify
- iii. ☒ Other State administrative authorities: please specify local civil registrar: 1. Legitimation is a remedy by means of which those who in fact were not born in wedlock and should, therefore, be considered illegitimate, are, by fiction, considered legitimate, it being supposed that they were born when their parents were already validly married. (1 Manresa 550, as cited on p. 251, Handbook on Family Code of the Philippines, Alicia V. Sempio-Diy).

2. Only children conceived and born outside of wedlock of parents who at the time of the conception of the former, were not disqualified by any impediments to marry each other, may be legitimated. (Art. 177, Family Code)

3. Legitimation of children by subsequent marriage of parents shall be recorded in the civil registry office of the place where the birth was recorded. The requirements for registration of legitimation of illegitimate children are:

- a) Certificate of Marriage;
- b) Certificate of Live Birth of the child;
- c) Acknowledgement (not required for illegitimate children born on or after 3 August 1988);

d) Affidavit of legitimation executed by both parents which shall contain the following facts:

- (5) the city or municipality where such marriage was recorded;
- (6) the name of the child to be legitimated, and the other facts of birth;
- (7) the date and place where the birth of the child was registered; and
- (8) the manner by which the child was acknowledged by the parents which may be in the child's record of birth, in a will, a statement before a court of record, or in any authentic writing (not required for illegitimate children born on or after 3 August 1988).

4. For a child to be considered legitimated by subsequent marriage, it is necessary that:

- o the parents could have legally contracted marriage at the time the child was conceived ;
- o that the child has been acknowledged by the parents before or after the celebration of their marriage ; and
- o the acknowledgement has been made with the consent of the child, if age or with the approval of the court, if a minor, unless it has been made in the certificate before a court of record, or in any authentic writing.

The original family name of the child as appearing in Registrar of Births shall not be erased or deleted, but in the remarks space shall be written "Legitimated by Subsequent Marriage" indicating the family name which the child shall bear by virtue of the legitimation also giving reference to the entry number in the Registrar of Legal Instruments.

When the interested party requests a copy of the birth certificate of a legitimated child a certified copy of the certificate of Live Birth bearing the annotation "Legitimated by Subsequent Marriage on _____ (date of marriage) at _____ (place of marriage)" or a certified transcription using standard form from the Register of Births bearing the effects of legitimation and the same annotation indicated in the certified true copy shall be issued. (Rule 66, A.O. No. 1 S. 1993)

How does legitimation take place?

Legitimation shall take place by a subsequent valid marriage between parents. The annulment of a voidable marriage shall not affect the legitimation (Art. 178, Family Code of the Philippines).

Provided, the father has the right to institute an action before the regular courts to prove non-filiation during his lifetime. The legitime of each illegitimate child shall consist of one-half of the legitime of a legitimate child."

No changes in the past five years, however legislation on surrogacy is pernding

<sup>25</sup> In this paper, "cross-border reproductive care" is taken to mean when person(s) who wish to access ART services cross a border to do so, for whatever reason (often it is linked with the restrictive rules in their "home" jurisdiction, lower costs or better success rates abroad).

58. Other than cases involving international surrogacy arrangements (as to which see Part III below), are there any other cases of which you are aware where difficulties have arisen in your State in relation to establishing, contesting, or recognising a child's legal parentage as a result of the cross-border movement of the child and / or his / her putative parents?

(Some possible examples can be found at Part IV (b) of Prel. Doc. No 11 of March 2011.)

Please provide as much detail as possible concerning the situation which arose and the difficulties encountered:

Part III: The particular challenges concerning International Surrogacy Arrangements<sup>26</sup> ("ISAs")

This Part asks for information regarding the experience of State authorities with ISAs. It is divided into two sections:<sup>27</sup>

- Section A asks a number of questions concerning "Incoming cases" of ISA: i.e., those cases in which your State was the State of residence of the intending parents, and the State to which it was sought to bring child(ren), born to a surrogate abroad, to live.
- Section B continues with questions concerning "Outgoing cases" of ISA: i.e., those cases where your State was the State in which the surrogate mother gave birth and from which the child(ren) needed to leave to travel to the State of residence of the intending parents in order to live with them in that State.

A. Incoming cases<sup>28</sup>

☐ This Section is inapplicable – there have been no "Incoming cases" of ISA in this State. Go to Section B.

Basic empirical data

59. Do you have any information concerning:

- a) The number of Incoming cases of ISA which have required the assistance of your State authorities in recent years?

<sup>27</sup> Please note: it is understood that, in relation to both "Incoming" and "Outgoing" cases, there may be more than two States involved in a particular case: e.g., the surrogate may be resident in a different State to the State in which she travelled (or, in some cases, was trafficked) to give birth; in other cases, a gamete donor may be resident in a third State etc. Please explain any such elements in your responses to the questions in this part.

<sup>28</sup> I.e., those cases where your State was the State of residence of the intending parent(s), and the State to which it was sought to bring the child(ren), born to a surrogate abroad, to live.
